Garson Refuses Federal Aid in Handling Douks

OTTAWA (BUP) — Justice Minister Stuart Garson today in effect turned down a request from British Columbia provincial officials for federal aid in dealing with the radical Sons of Freedom sect of the Doukhobors.

Garson, in an exchange of letters with provincial Attorney-General R. W. Bonner published today, said the province would have to formulate a specific policy.

Dealing with the sect, whose members parade nude and burn homes and barns to express their defiance of man-made laws, was the "constitutional responsibility of the province," Garson said.

Until a policy is formulated by the province, he told Bonner, "I do not think any further change of generalities would serve a useful purpose."

Searchers Bring Out Bodies of 10 Fliers

Wreckage of Comox RCAF Bomber Found
On Oregon Peak; Missed Clearing by 100 Ft.

NORTH BEND, Ore. (CP)—The bodies of 10 RCAF men were to be brought down today from Iron Mountain, south of here.

They were killed last Tuesday when their Lancaster bomber crashed into the Coast Range ridge, 43 miles southeast of here.

A ground party which reached the wreckage Sunday reported that if the plane had been 100 feet higher, it would have missed the 4,000-foot ridge.

Several bodies and parts of the huge plane were found on the other side of the peak. Three bodies were found in the demolished fuselage.

The Coos County coroner said all were killed outright. The wreckage was sighted first by a U.S. Coast Guard search plane Saturday after smoke was seen rising in the area. The smoke was from timber set afire by the crash.

On Sunday a ground party led by Sgt. Ldr. J. Drake of Comox air base, B.C., reached

SIDELIGHTS

LONDON (CP)—Beating on a tom-tom, Chief Mathias Joe arrived in London by air today from British Columbia for the Coronation.

The chief of the 650-member Squamish tribe at Capilano, near Vancouver, bore $500 worth of gifts for the Royal Family, including a baby totem pole; and was dressed to kill.

LONDON (AP)—The Duchess of Kent, an elegant but absent-minded aunt of the Queen, had a date today to collect her coronet. She lost it Friday. It turned up hours later in a Mayfair hairdresser's salon which the Duchess had visited for a pre-Coronation trim.

LONDON (AP)—The Queen's gardener, William Hepburn, dropped dead Sunday while putting the finishing touches to a big Coronation display in Hyde Park.

The white-haired, 64-year-old Scot, whose title was superintendent of the royal parks, was long the gardening confidant of Britain's kings and queens. Queen Mother Elizabeth and the late Queen Mary frequently sought his advice on their roses.

LONDON (Reuters)—Forty members of Canada's Coronation contingent went for a five-mile hike before dawn Sunday in a last-minute rehearsal of the Coronation Day parade.

Three service detachments left Earl's Court, huge exhibition hall where 9,000 Commonwealth troops are billeted, at 4 a.m. and were back before London began to wake up.

Later, more than 700 Canadians, led by the band of the Royal 22nd Regiment, marched through the streets of London to limber up for their 14½ mile march Coronation Day.

SEOUL (AP)—The British Commonwealth division fighting in Korea will salute the Coronation Tuesday with artillery and tank fire along the front.

Division headquarters announced that celebration plans also involved a 35-minute Coronation parade.

TOKYO (Reuters)—Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations supreme commander, today sent Coronation greetings from all United States servicemen in the Far East to the British Commonwealth division.

"To officers and other ranks of your gallant forces, I extend a warm and heartfelt 'God Save the Queen,'" Clark said.

LONDON (Reuters)—More than 10,000 first aid workers—top men and women hand-picked from Commonwealth volunteer groups—are expecting at least a casualty apiece on Coronation Day.

At least 7,000 of them will be members of the St. John Ambulance Corps.

At the last crowning in 1937 there were 9,583 casualties and that day was cool and damp and crowds weren't as big as are expected this time.

South Korea Proposes U.S. Sign Defense Pact

New Demands Made by Rhee if Roks
To Drop Opposition to Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has proposed that President Eisenhower sign a four-point agreement pledging a mutual defense pact and future military and financial help to South Korea if the Seoul government is to drop its opposition to the United Nations truce terms, it was learned today.

Rhee's attitude—and what reply should be made to his proposition—presumably was up for discussion at a special meeting of the National Security Council.

White House at noon. An authoritative informant said the South Korean president submitted his program in a message to Eisenhower.

The four points which Rhee insisted Eisenhower must agree upon in advance were reported to be:

1. A pledge to sign a mutual defense pact with Korea guaranteeing the United States will come to Korea's aid in the event the Communists attack again once a truce has been signed.

2. A promise by the United States to undertake continued large-scale military and economic aid to South Korea.

3. Simultaneous withdrawal of all foreign forces, including Communist and United Nations troops, once truce arrangements are completed and prisoners exchanged.

4. Agreement by the United States that it and the United Nations will not try to stop South Korea from uniting the country once a truce has been agreed upon.

SAYS ROKS WILL FIGHT
CHINHAIE, Korea (CP)—South Korea's ranking cabinet member said today his country can and will fight the Reds by itself if the Communists sign an armistice based on the latest Allied proposal—and he predicted they will.

As the rift widened between South Korea and her allies, Acting Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai emerged from a 3½-hour emergency cabinet meeting at President Syngman Rhee's summer villa in Chinhaie and told newspapermen: "Some people think the Rok (Republic of Korea) Army will not be able to go on fighting if United Nations' ammunition and other military supplies stop. Just wait and see."

"Personally," he added, "I think the new Allied proposal is very similar to what the Communists are proposing and, therefore, I see no reason why the Communists will not accept."

Overheard at the parade tomorrow: "No dear, that ain't a Social Credit candidate, that's the Chinese dragon."

Crowd Unworried By Forecast Showers, Thunder

LONDON (CP)—Showers with the sun peeping through were predicted as the stage was all set for the Coronation Tuesday.

The Crown Jewels were moved secretly into Westminster Abbey this morning.

The young Queen kept busy with her official rounds as thousands poured into London.

Even standing room was at a premium at choice spots along the processional route 24 hours ahead of time.

Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh gave a luncheon for the Commonwealth prime ministers at Buckingham Palace and shook hands with 80 delegates to the coronation.

Chilling winds failed to dampen any of the carnival enthusiasm of throngs milling about outside the palace and in front of Westminster Abbey.

And they didn't seem disturbed either by the forecasts of showers "perhaps with hail and thunder" and cold weather tomorrow.

Crowds along Regent Street missed, too, one of the climactic pre-Coronation rituals—the transfer of the Crown Jewels to the Abbey.

Only a single car of detectives guarded the historic relics—including St. Edward's Crown and the jewel-studded Imperial State Crown—on the journey from the crown jeweler's to the Abbey. The spirit of festivity swept into Buckingham Palace.

The Queen had lunch with Prime Minister Churchill, Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada and nine other Commonwealth prime ministers. Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and other members of the Royal Family also attended.

The 27-year-old Queen wore a cream silk dress with a small black dot pattern and a diamond-spray brooch on the left shoulder. Her husband was in morning clothes.

She greeted the guests standing before a dais on which there was a single chair of state of crimson silk damask. The only woman presented to Elizabeth was the Begum Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan, attired in Eastern dress.

A last-minute rush of visitors from all corners of the earth was under way.

Planes stacked up to land at London's two big airports. Special trains and boats disgorged thousands of others from abroad.

Traffic along the teeming six-mile Coronation route virtually is at a standstill. Solid swarms of pedestrians have all but taken over the main thoroughfares. The crowds are good natured and gay.

For most Britons, the biggest holiday in more than a decade of austerity has begun.

The lucky ones—about 250,000 in all—who have seats in specially built, bright-painted stands along the route, will start taking their places early Tuesday.

But perhaps, 4,000,000 more will see the Queen on her way to and from her crowning in ancient Westminster Abbey before 7,500 invited guests.

30 Million to Watch TV Parade

An estimated 30,000,000 other Britons will watch the spectacle on television.

For some it was a particularly joyful occasion. In her last official action before the Coronation, Elizabeth handed out ranks and honors.

Among those knighted were two of Britain's most popular sports figures—world champion jockey Gordon Richards and Jack Hobbs, veteran cricket star.

The Queen's newest honors list marked Her Majesty's Coronation and also her official birthday June 11. It rewarded Britons in all walks of life for service and seniority.

A sombre note was added, however, in the death Sunday of William Hepburn, 64, the Queen's gardener, while tending 33,000 special blooms he had grown for the Coronation in Hyde Park. He had been awarded the Victoria Cross.

The Queen! The Queen! The Queen!

As the Queen returned to Buckingham Palace from her prayers, a crowd estimated at 40,000 surged toward the car crying: "The Queen! The Queen!"

The palace sentries, unable to walk their normal beats outside the gates, were ordered inside the grounds, where they marched protected from the throngs by the iron fences.

Those waiting outside got brief glimpses of the Queen's two children, Princess Anne, in a white nightgown, was held up at a top floor window by a nurse just before going to bed. An hour earlier, Prince Charles was seen bobbing up and down at another window, but his nurse quickly pulled him out of sight.

Chants of "we want the Queen!" broke out from the crowds until nearly midnight, but the Queen, resting for the coming ordeal, did not appear.

At midnight, some soldiers and their girl friends danced outside the palace gates, but by 1 a.m., the crowds had dispersed, some to wander elsewhere along the Coronation route.

Scotland Yard gave the Coronation route a final security check.

Even the famed clock tower of Big Ben was inspected. So were the 13 miles of sewers running under London's west end. The police are keeping a special watch against any attempt at a demonstration by Scottish Nationalists, who swiped the historic Stone of Scone from the Coronation chair in Westminster Abbey in 1950. The stone later was found and brought back.

The weather was giving the Coronation officials the most worry. The latest forecast covering Coronation Day is for continuing cool weather with "occasional rain or showers but some sunny intervals."

At least one Coronation squatter refused to be worried about the weather. She is Mrs. Zoe Neame, a 73-year-old widow who took her place under a statue in Trafalgar Square at 8 a.m. Sunday—the first to start the vigil.

BUT ONLY SEE CHARLES, ANNE

35,000 Jam Palace
Gates to Glimpse Queen

LONDON. (Reuters) — dense mass stopped. Motorists stopped and joined in the surge to get to the gates. Then a nurse was seen. Unceremoniously she pulled the laughing Prince away from the window. There was a groan of disappointment. But an hour later the crowds were cheering again. Princess Anne, dressed in a white nightgown, was held up in the arms of her nurse. She waved her hand and threw back her head and laughed excitedly. Again the crowd surged forward, only to see her carried away.

Yard Charged With Safety of Queen

LONDON (Reuters) — Scotland Yard Sunday night announced a master plan to insure that no fanatic, neurotic or headline hunter mars the big day on Tuesday.

The main place they must protect is Westminster Abbey itself, where a crank could conceivably hide overnight behind one of the throngs of statues or in one of the many recesses. Any unexpected incident in the abbey June 2 could ruin the carefully timed Coronation ceremony.

Scotland Yard agents will search every foot of the abbey. They will check each of the 7,000 guests' admission cards to make sure no one tries to crash the gate. These cards have a special secret mark to guard against forgeries.

As the guests stream into the abbey plainclothesmen will circulate among them. The earl marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, has screened these guests meticulously.

The procession, too, will get special protection. There might be some unbalanced persons among the 3,000,000 persons along the route who has dreamed up a "grievance" against the Royal Family.

Thousands of sharp-eyed detectives will move among the crowds, alert for unconventional behavior. On such a great occasion a fanatic Republican might possibly throw himself in front of the wheels of the coach of state to dramatize his cause.

Some 25,000 police will be stationed along the seven-mile procession route to keep the wildly cheering crowds in good order.

Conciliation Resumes

A conciliation board that sat in Vancouver last week to hear a wage dispute between glassworkers and 10 Victoria and Vancouver employers will convene in Vancouver Wednesday.

Victoria firms involved are Hobbs Glass, Pacific Glass Ltd. and O'Neill Glass & Paint Ltd. Representing workers in joint negotiations are the glassworkers' sections of the Victoria and Vancouver locals of the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators (TLC).

Board members are chairman Percy Gomersley and employers' nominee George Robson of Vancouver and Donald Bushell, Victoria, employees' nominee.

Queen to Bear
Heavy Burden,
Says ArchbishopPre-Coronation
Service Heard
By Over 5,000

LONDON (UP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said Sunday night Queen Elizabeth must bear "to her life's end" the heavy spiritual task of leading and giving courage to her peoples.

The Archbishop, who will crown the young Queen Tuesday, spoke to more than 5,000 persons who crowded St. Paul's Cathedral for a service in preparation for the Coronation.

He also was heard by millions throughout Britain over a radio network of the British Broadcasting Corporation.

"The crown I shall place upon her head is physically heavy," the Archbishop said. "Spiritually it is a crown as heavy in what it demands as it is splendid in what it represents, and she has to bear it to her life's end."

"It is comparatively easy to govern by force. It is congenial to us to order other people about, but such powers no longer belong to the sovereign in our constitutional monarchy and we ask of the Queen a far harder thing: to lead us, to hold us together, to refresh and encourage us."

Dr. Fisher called for thanks to God that Britain has a hereditary monarchy.

"From how many national disasters we have been delivered by the fact that we give our national loyalty not to a written constitution or any ideology, but to a person," he said.

St. Laurent,
Massey Now
In Wax Effigy

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent and Governor-General Massey of Canada have joined three other Canadians in Madame Tussaud's famed wax-works museum here.

The unveiling of the wax figures was witnessed by 50 Canadian and 30 British girls, members of Canadian industrialist Garfield Weston's annual trans-Atlantic touring groups, who will see the Coronation Tuesday. St. Laurent, also in London, was not present.

Other Canadians now represented in the museum are skater Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa and Toronto; Lt. Col. C. C. I. Merritt, VC, of Vancouver, and Andrew Bonar Law, Canadian-born British prime minister in 1922. Other Canadians, including the late Mackenzie King, prime minister before St. Laurent, were once represented but their figures have been melted down for more recent notables. The museum, bombed during the war, has not enough space to keep all the effigies it creates.

Island Straw Vote Charge
Fails for Lack of Proof

DUNCAN—A charge against William Watts, Vancouver, of conducting a straw vote in Cowichan-Newcastle riding, was dismissed in police court Saturday.

David R. Williams, defense counsel, contended no proof had been submitted that a writ of election had been issued, and that there was no evidence that the offense took place in Cowichan-Newcastle riding.

The charge was laid by Robert M. Strachan, CCF candidate for the riding.

Four prosecution witnesses gave evidence after which the charge was dismissed.

The Elections Act specifies no canvass or straw vote can be taken after the issuing of a writ calling for an election.

Ottawa Leads Nation's Expression
Of Loyalty on Day of CoronationBy VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Canada's dignified, handsome city has donned gay holiday attire to celebrate the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

The Peace Tower on Parliament Hill is the focal point for Canada's national ceremony timed to take place when Her Majesty will speak to the Commonwealth and the world from London.

It will be a day of ceremony and pageantry in Ottawa, as elsewhere throughout the Commonwealth.

Coronation Day begins in Ottawa at 11.30 a.m. Tuesday with the trooping of the color by the Governor General's Foot Guards. At noon there will be religious observances at the University of Ottawa's varsity oval and at the National Museum.

At 3.30 p.m. Ottawa time His Excellency Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, will proceed from Rideau Hall to Parliament Hill.

CARILLON TO SOUND

A parade of the armed forces and massed bands will march through the gaily-decorated streets to Parliament Hill while the carillon bells in the Peace Tower ring out the glad tidings of the Coronation.

A large beautifully-decorated platform has been erected immediately in front of the main entrance to the centre block of the Parliament Buildings. Forming the backdrop for the platform is the Peace Tower on which has been suspended a huge banner with a picture profile of Her Majesty.

Bunting and flags have been festooned on buildings throughout the city. But it is the Parliament Buildings that present the most striking picture, where the bright colors of millions of tulips in full bloom have been overshadowed by the man-made decorations.

The huge lawns have been converted into a parade square where the thousands of troops will be drawn up for the national ceremony.

MONUMENT OF LIGHT

Scores of powerful flood lights have been placed around Parliament Hill and at strategic points throughout the city, focussed on buildings, monuments and arches, to achieve a monument in light in the evening.

The lights will be turned on each evening until June 15. On the Peace Tower special spotlights are centred on a wreath of golden leaves about the profile of the Queen's head and focussed on the sparkling crown high above.

Decorative arches have been placed across the main streets, brilliantly decorated with bunting, flags and shields bearing the coats of arms of the provinces. Lamp standards along the main thoroughfares have been dressed to play their part.

In the evening on Coronation day there will be a massed band concert on Parliament Hill. A barge carrying the members of the city council of Ottawa, dressed in their robes, which were ordered by Mayor Charlotte Whitton to mark this great occasion, will float down the Rideau Canal. When it arrives at Confederation Bridge a city ceremony will commence, highlighted by the affirmation of loyalty by Acting Mayor of Ottawa Daniel McCann. Mayor Whitton is in London for the Coronation.

A giant fireworks display will conclude the ceremonies in the capital city.

Three Dreams Came True

The royal coach was a shiny convertible that carried Her Majesty, Queen of May, Doreen Rogers from her coronation, Saturday. Four thousand packed Parliament Building lawns to

THOUSANDS SEE MAY QUEEN'S CROWNING

4,000 Throng Legislature Lawn To See Royal Victoria Retinue

By PETER LAUMAN

Pampered Parliament Building lawns suffered in the scuffle of 4,000 pair of eager feet Saturday night as Victoria crowned her May Queen.

If it was the biggest crowd ever to witness the annual event, it was only fitting; for no queen was ever more charming exciting, no royal procession ever brighter and gayer. The parade was, in effect, a rehearsal for Coronation watch a giant array of marching celebrants in city streets Tuesday. The route followed by Queen Doreen Rogers and police and Frontiersmen. The sidewalks were thick with Saturday night crowds.

The treasure of S. J. Willis High, Her 14-year-old Majesty, Queen Doreen, was escorted by a guard of 14 knights of the Victoria Motorcycle Club mounted on modern, snorting chargers.

Shiny convertibles carried the queen and her princesses and ladies-in-waiting. The Victoria Girls' Drill Team, the Major-ettes, the Eagles' Ladies' Drill Team, the Eagles' Band and members of the Lions formed van, flanked and rear-guard for the royal party.

Six trumpeters sounded a fanfare as the regal group mounted the legislature steps and tiny train-bearers kept the royal train from brushing the rich red carpet that led up to the throne. Civic and military dignitaries edged close as the moment arrived.

With this crown I proclaim you Queen of the May," said Mayor Claude Harrison as he performed the Coronation rite and as the crowd roared its approval, he stole a royal kiss.

Braving a cold wind, the crowds remained to watch the queen drive off. Princesses Ann Redford, Oak Bay High, and Ina Ransom, Mount Douglas, were also cheered by the jubilant crowd, as were the beautifully gowned attendants.

They included Beverley Turner, Esquimalt High School; Helen Hardy, Mount View High; Margo Thomson, Victoria High; Frances Rigby, Central Junior High, and Sandra Carran and Joyce Murrant, pupils of Wyn Shaw's School of Dancing.

The event, part of Victoria's four-day Coronation celebrations, was arranged and conducted by the Victoria Lions Club.

Socred Ready To Answer Crime Charge

Boomerang Benefit Seen by Bennett

B.C.'s Social Credit League president John Perdue was expected to make a full statement late today in reply to a charge he has a 25-year-old criminal record.

"I will make a full statement to the people of British Columbia on Monday," Mr. Perdue, a 50-year-old Chilliwack civil engineer and Socred candidate in Mackenzie, said over the weekend.

Mr. Perdue was accused by Dr. W. N. Kemp, Vancouver Point Grey Independent candidate, of having been convicted of obtaining money by false pretenses in Vancouver between 1928 and 1933.

Dr. Kemp, who described himself as a former Socred, alleged that Perdue also won acquittal on several charges, including conspiracy and perjury, in Chatham, Ont., in 1942.

Premier Bennett termed the charges the start of a "low smear campaign," but neither denied nor confirmed the accusation.

The premier made the statement in Vancouver, and a similar statement was read by Ald. Waldo Skillings at an Oak Bay Socred meeting Saturday night.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Trade and travel sanctions imposed against communist Czechoslovakia two years ago for the failing of American newsman William N. Oatis may be lifted shortly, administration spokesmen reported today.

HEARING-AID OF THE WEEK
In 1938, B. S. H. Tye, a graduate teacher of lip-reading, opened the Victoria Hearing-Aid Co. in this city.

At that time very few people with hearing-aids were to be seen in public. Today hearing-aids are seen almost everywhere. In 1938 learning to use an instrument was quite an undertaking as the sets were carbon type and seemed to amplify excessively the unwanted sounds. Then came vacuum-tube hearing-aids which are far more clear and natural than the carbon.

The year 1953 has seen the All-Transistor motor come on the market, which has no tubes and use only one tiny self-contained battery and can be operated by the average case for about two dollars per year.

Youth Charged After Mother Fatally Burned

OSHAWA, Ont. (BUP)—Mrs. John Harding, 38, was buried today as her son appeared in court charged with setting the fire in which she died.

John Harding, a 16-year-old bakery worker, who was said to have had "frequent misunderstandings" with his mother, was charged with arson after firemen found piles of papers had been set on fire under a staircase.

Mrs. Harding died trapped in the blaze which swept her four-room flat Friday. The fire threatened the lives of eight people in the building.

2,000 Attend Garden Fete Honoring Queen Mother

LONDON (Reuters)—Communist envoys turned out in force Sunday to join 2,000 guests invited to meet Queen Mother Elizabeth at a Coronation party in the gardens of Hatfield House near here.

Led by Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik, they chatted with guests from all over the world—from lords to factory hands. At the party, given by the Marquess of Salisbury, Conservative leader in the House of Lords.

Two queens, princes, princesses, prime ministers, ambassadors, sultans, sheiks and chieftains roamed the grounds of the ancient manor, which dates back to the reign of the first Queen Elizabeth.

The closely-trimmed lawns became a patchwork quilt of exotic eastern costumes and gay western fashions as the Queen Mother, wearing a powder-blue dress set off by white gloves and shoes, met her visitors.

Queen Salote of Tonga in the Pacific, only other reigning queen in the British Commonwealth, was there in a red evening dress and red-feathered hat.

Negotiation Has Limits

THE SUDDEN INSISTENCE BY the South Korean government that no peace be concluded which permits continued division of the peninsula into two countries may well have received encouragement from the words of Senator Robert Taft last week. In this, both President Syngman Rhee and the American legislator appear to be quite blind to the realities of the situation.

When Senator Taft declared that he favored broadening the truce talks to include a general Far East settlement, and said that a negotiated peace should include Chinese agreement to a united Korea and abandonment of further Communist aggression in southeast Asia, he was voicing very laudable aims. But it is such aims, particularly the unification of Korea, that all the fighting is about.

Agreement to Mr. Taft's terms could only come about through defeat of the Communists and victory by the United Nations. Western troops have been fighting for two years to achieve such peace terms, but have not been able to do so.

On what grounds, then, does Mr. Taft think the Chinese will now agree to grant the United Nations what was originally their main objective in fighting, namely restoration of Korea under one democratic government?

Pannunjom does not represent a dictated peace, such as Senator Taft and President Syngman Rhee appear to suppose. It represents only a negotiated peace, a much different matter, in which compromise must be granted and as favorable terms obtained as can be reached by bargaining.

Happily, Mr. Taft's views on Korea and the United Nations have been repudiated by President Eisenhower as well as by Senator Wiley, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee. The stand of President Syngman Rhee seems to be gaining more support among his countrymen.

But the South Korean leader must surely be bluffing when he declares his intention of pursuing the war alone, without United Nations aid. If Korea is left divided, he is well enough informed to know that without outside aid he would have a terrible struggle to survive and must eventually succumb to the superior forces that would be thrown against him. Korean unification would then be complete, but it would be under Communist domination and not under a democratic government.

Cohesion and Fission

THE DECISION OF THE United States to share non-military atomic information with Britain is described in the latter country as a "diplomatic triumph" on the part of Prime Minister Churchill, and it may well be so.

During the last war the two nations pooled their knowledge of atomic fission to produce the atomic bomb. While the major part of the construction was carried out by the United States, much valuable work was done by British physicists, both in the theoretical calculations necessary before any start could be made, and in other preliminary phases.

With the end of the war and the disclosure of atom spy plots the arrangement was dropped by the United States. That country continued alone to develop more powerful bombs, as well as nuclear fission for power. Canada, which had played a minor part in the wartime work, continued to develop its atomic reactor at Chalk River, and has contributed importantly to the medical use of radioactive materials. Britain pursued atomic power studies and also continued with work on the bomb, culminating in the explosion staged recently off the Australian coast.

The new arrangement provides that information may be exchanged on "new methods of making fissile materials." These could be used either for bombs or industrial power.

The agreement embodies an acknowledgment by the United States that Britain has information that can be of value to American researchers. Both countries obviously will benefit from mutual exchange, even though this is still limited by United States legal restrictions on the export of bomb information.

The step is much more indicative of the real relations between Britain and the United States than are the occasional harsh words which fly across the Atlantic between lower echelons of representatives of both nations.

Politely Ineffectual

THE INTER-MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE has taken a conventional course in explaining that terms of the Municipal Act prevent municipalities in this community from contributing financially to the Greater Victoria Arts Centre. That is the polite explanation which has been given on other occasions. Legally, it is correct.

The inter-municipal committee does, however, go a little further in announcing it will present a resolution to the next UBCM convention seeking power to provide such assistance. That is a pleasant gesture which may or may not produce results.

If the member municipalities of Greater Victoria really want to do something to help the Greater Victoria Arts Centre along financial lines, there is a much more direct approach they can make. They may seek power from the government to permit them to make contributions and not depend upon the alteration of an act which applies to all municipalities in British Columbia.

It is doubtful if Langley, Pouce Coupe or Trail care very much whether or not Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt contribute funds to the Arts Centre. But there is a possibility that amendment of the Municipal Act to provide such power would intrude an element into existing legislation which municipalities other than those on the south end of Vancouver Island might oppose.

The action taken by the inter-municipal committee would be vastly more encouraging if so many resolutions had not been dumped in the lap of the UBCM and died there.

Like Money in the Bank

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT British Columbia has had fewer forest fires so far in 1953 than during any similar period in the last three years is encouraging but still leaves much to be desired.

Weather conditions have unquestionably been an important factor in bringing the current year's total below that of its two predecessors. When the hotter days arrive, with lower humidity, the people of this province may expect the customary seasonal danger in the woods.

They cannot hope to escape all fires. Some are due to causes beyond human control. But if the people of British Columbia, particularly those who find employment or enjoyment and recreation in the woods, exercised the caution they know should be exercised, a substantial number of outbreaks could be avoided.

For several years forestry officials and other responsible citizens have campaigned to educate the public to the hazards of fire in the woods. As the number reached by their educational campaign expands they are entitled to look for better results.

In this campaign few approaches to the people appear to have merit than that of the junior forest wardens, the Victoria group of which organization held its first annual rally at the week-end.

It is gratifying to know that there are now more than 6,500 young people enrolled as junior wardens in active training in different parts of the province. It is satisfying to learn that their ranks are growing and that 25,000 boys have gone through the training since the organization was formed in 1930. The movement is one to attract all British Columbia's youth. The lessons they learn in their courses may be the means of putting dollars in their pockets later in life.

This province depends on the forests for about half of the wealth it produces. Learning how to safeguard the woods is an investment for every citizen.

LOOSE ENDS

On a Green Postage Stamp

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ROTTERDAM—At 11 a.m. on May 14, 1940, Rotterdam was one of the finest cities in Europe—well-planned, solid, clean, in the painstaking Dutch fashion. At noon it was a ruin. Hitler had launched the first installment of his blitz against the West.

As that famous story was told me by a sad-eyed waiter in a newly-built restaurant, hundreds of German planes "came in like pigeons" only five hundred feet above the defenseless city. Their target had been carefully pin-pointed in advance. The centre of Rotterdam must be wiped out clean and it was, in the painstaking

Hutchison

German fashion. The Dutch authorities, said my informant (who had witnessed these events at first hand), were warned in advance that the blow would fall at noon if Holland refused to surrender. But the clocks of Berlin were an hour in advance of those in Rotterdam. So the Luftwaffe appeared exactly 60 minutes ahead of the schedule as understood in Holland.

The centre of Rotterdam was still filled with people and thousands of them died, how many nobody knows, in the West's first experience with mass civilian bombing.

From the huge restaurant which has risen from the ruins we could see Hitler's signature over several square miles. It is not, however, the same signature that marks Hitler's own capital.

Berlin is still a shambles and will remain so for years to come. The Dutch have removed every last shovelful of debris from Rotterdam and left the heart of the city empty, flat and clean. There a new city is slowly rising and no longer in the Dutch fashion. Instead, the new Rotterdam will be probably the most modern city in the world. The postwar shops, offices and apartment buildings represent the latest dream of architects—stark, functional, glittering with glass and more like Fifth Avenue than Holland.

The waiter surveyed this titanic labor wistfully. What, he asked, was the good of it? The Germans had come and they had been driven back, but the Russians would come in due time also. "In about two years, I think."

Many Russians had visited the garish new restaurant in the last year or two. "They tell me," said this survivor of the blitz, "it is best I should learn the Russian language. I will need it. So they say. But it is not so."

The little man drew himself up in the military posture learned as a soldier of the Dutch army. "We are free," he cried. "We will fight for our freedom again. The Russians are crazy like the Germans. They will find out!"

This man knew the Germans. When they first occupied Holland, he recalled, they were "correct" and treated the people well. At the first sign of defeat their manner changed. "They were terrible." Out of Rotterdam alone they took some 30,000 men to labor in Germany, every able-bodied male between 21 and 40 years of age.

They took the waiter also, loaded him on a cattle car and carried him into the heart of Germany. "But in two days I am back again in Rotterdam. Oh, it was not hard. In the day I hid. At night my people carried me in trucks. But again they 'catch me and again I am back. This time, three days. Then I hide good in my sister's house and they do not catch me again. But the town is burned."

As a first experiment in whole destruction the Luftwaffe dropped little high explosive on Rotterdam, only enough to smash up the buildings and prepare them for a rain of incendiaries. Throughout four days the fire moved across the city and back again and when it died down at last no Dutchman could imagine how this massive wound could ever be cured. Thirteen years later there is no sign of conflagration, only the vast and empty space surrounded by the new buildings.

"We try," said the waiter, "to forget. We never forgive." I remarked that the ruin of Berlin far exceeded that of Rotterdam. "Yes," he replied, "I have seen Berlin. Well, they asked for it. It is no matter."

THESE words were spoken quietly with a bitterness unimaginable in America or Britain. The Dutch people's hatred of the Germans, their blood relatives, is a shocking thing to see. They seem to have no faith in Germany's reformation. "They will try it all over again," a hotel keeper near Utrecht told me, "when they find their new Fuehrer."

In answer to my questions he commented unfavorably, in a glum Dutch manner, on most of the peoples of Europe. Do the Dutch, I asked, like anybody? "Only themselves," he said. But he added generously that the Canadian army had used his hotel as a brigade headquarters and the Canadians were quite clean. He would not say as much of any other race.

HOLLAND in the spring tells the visitor little of the war years. It is perfect, like a picture book, as always, with windmills against the sky, innumerable fat cows in the fields (the pregnant ones all carefully wrapped in blankets), tulips stretching in crimson and purple acres to the horizon, tables loaded with food (cold ham and cheese for breakfast), all the houses glistening in primary colors like toys just out of the store and some bulbous canal boat meandering through every farmyard.

It is impossible to realize that Hitler's armies moved across this land, that the Dutch flooded it in an act of national suicide or that, only a few months ago, it was inundated over a large area by a North Sea gale.

But then it is impossible to realize how Holland lives at any time, these millions on a green postage stamp which would fit comfortably into the Red River Valley, the Okanagan or the Niagara peninsula. Only the Dutch could endure here. From wars and floods innumerable they have learned their own grim method of survival.

Facts on the Victoria Nursing Home

This is the first time that I have written to The Editor, but in view of the different stories which have appeared in the newspapers about the Victoria Nursing Home I think perhaps it might be well to clarify some facts. The property in question was not bought by the Victoria Nursing Home, but by the city and conveyed to the Nursing Home Society with the request that the Victoria Nursing Home Society incorporate itself and manage the nursing home.

This was done and the first patients were admitted in 1945. Since that time moderate surpluses have been accumulated, and it is the intention, providing the city makes a grant, to construct a building, modern in every respect, to house 104 patients.

The building which we now occupy is a very old one and will be used for extra services required by the Dominion government in order to comply with their regulations.

We are not in competition with private nursing homes. Over 80 per cent of the patients in our home are city cases and under the by-law which has just been passed we are asked to reserve 80 beds for the city. Our board passed a resolution on Wednesday last agreeing to do this.

When I requested to be allowed to speak for a few minutes to the council, my sole intention was to explain the above, and the mayor was the only one who voted against me. Why, I do not know.

When he was first elected he was very enthusiastic and told me that there would be no trouble about a plebiscite as he did not think it was necessary. Actually, he had been very friendly about the nursing home until our Vice-President Alderman Christie who has worked very faithfully to further the construction of the new building, and the mayor had differences of opinion as to the chairmanship of the Welfare Department of the city.

Since she became chairman the mayor's attitude has changed, and although he was advised as late as last June that it was possible that there might have to be a plebiscite, he took no action.

If the offers of the two senior city engineers are not accepted within a reasonable time and the project goes ahead with, there is of course a possibility, and we have been so notified, that they will not be forthcoming.

In the meantime, acting on the strength of a letter received from the city dated 26th September last, which was apparently approved by the mayor, along with the aldermen, stating that $150,000 from the sale of reverted lands, which is now in a special account, would be available towards the cost of the proposed new building, the nursing home has incurred a liability for plans and specifications, and these have been approved by the Dominion government, the provincial government and the city building inspector.

I should add that two increases in rates have been made since 1945. The first, from $75 to $90 per month, and the second from $90 to $100 per month, which is the present rate.

The city now pays $120 a month minimum and in some cases pays $135 per month at other nursing homes. The mayor intimated that a nursing home at Colwood, as a favor to him, would accept $105 per month, but the capacity is limited, and the city has a number of patients in different places and who would be accommodated in the new building.

It should be fully understood by the public that all services by myself and the members of the board and auxiliary are entirely gratis, and we have been endeavoring to help what we consider a very serious need for the chronically ill persons and, too, to relieve the general hospitals of some patients presently there, for whom apparently no beds are available.

F. E. WINSLOW,
President,
Victoria Nursing Home Society.

Let's Get Them in Focus

As Our Readers See It

REAL ELECTION

Elections, as I see it, this is a very vital election for the province. It is up to the people what kind of government we have. Do we want to put in ministers that know where they are going, and how to conduct themselves when they get there? Granted there may have been mistakes in the old parties, but at least they knew how to behave like grown men and women.

The Speaker of the House, in the old days at least, knew how to keep order! Do the women realize they have a vote thanks to the late Mary Ellen Smith, and how your vote affects your pocketbook, and your children?

If we have good government we have good times, jobs for your husbands, and your province and the whole of Canada will be looked up to by other nations. We certainly don't want strikes or war again, so get busy and take an interest. It is up to us all.

K. I. ALSDORE.

ON THE DEEP

The picture and interesting article of the life of Dick, Susan and baby Ruth Thullier aboard a small fishing boat, which appeared in your paper, should be an inspiration to the youth of this country, many of whom, alas, prefer to make a living the easy way.

I feel sure that Susan is enshrined in the hearts of many of the fishing folk as the "Queen of the Fishing Fleet," and Ruth has been adopted as a mascot.

One may feel assured that when these little more than youngsters are on their frail craft en route to the West Coast of our Island, passing through some of the most treacherous waters of the world, their comrades will keep a watchful eye on them; for these toilers of the deep are not only brave and kind hearted, but as chivalrous as the knights of old.

KIWANIS VILLAGE

One morning recently I had the pleasure of visiting Kiwanis Village, and was completely thrilled with the whole project.

Every thought and care has gone into the planning and building of these homes, including many safety devices, and first-class materials. In addition, a plan has been prepared to ensure that new tenants are selected on a fair and impartial basis.

The Kiwanians, most particularly Mr. E. Mallek and Mr. C. Craig, deserve immense credit for personally undertaking financial responsibility in order to complete the present unit.

Now they must appeal to the public for financial assistance towards completing additional units, sorely needed by the community.

All too few people have realized the hardships placed on the really low-income groups by the housing shortage, such as the old gentleman who is obliged to climb three flights of stairs in order to fetch water to his blind wife, and so on, while families with a large number of children have an almost impossible time. Fewer individuals or organizations have had the heart or stamina to do anything about it.

If people would only let themselves visualize some of these things, I feel that they would be more willing to respond generously to the appeal for funds. At any rate, let us hope so.

BACK TO ELIZABETH

"I have recently received from a friend in Victoria an amazing pamphlet, amazing in that it is headed 'Social Credit Explained,' which the president of the Victoria Progressive Conservative Association proceeds to do in less than two pages in spite of the fact that many books have been written on the subject. I would suggest that for our information, Mr. Patch tries his hand at explaining the gold standard in a similar attenuated form.

In this pamphlet, preposterous as it may seem, Mr. Patch actually appears to boast that he made the highly ridiculous statement that 'Social Credit would make Hitler look like a Sunday school teacher.' This would appear to be the most childish remark uttered to date in this most remarkable of elections.

As the rest of the pamphlet is of similar unadulterated nonsense, see my former letter, I will content myself by giving two quotations, the first made during the depression of the '30s. "Why, with the superabundance of the products of the earth, the factories, fuel, power, highways and railways at our disposal, are so many suffering from an inefficiency of the theory of life? We have come to realize that this is the most urgent of our problems."

And the second one: "Once a nation parts with the control of its currency it matters not who makes the nation's laws. Usury, once in control, will wreck any nation. Until the control of the issue of currency and credit is restored to the government and recognized as its most conspicuous and sacred responsibility, all talk of the sovereignty of parliament and democracy is idle and futile."

These are not quotations by Major Douglas or Solon Low, but the first by the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and the second by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, as quoted by Charles A. Bowman, then editor of the Ottawa Citizen.

Social Credit answers Mr. Bennett's question and endeavours to achieve the extreme necessity indicated by Mr. King, as any serious study of the system would show.

The Social Credit money theories have been called unorthodox and everything else unpleasant, whereas actually they are the most orthodox and sound in that they seek to return to sound money as it was in the days of Elizabeth I, brought up to date to meet modern conditions.

In closing I would like to compliment The Times on its very fair policy of publishing the letters of its readers of whatever shade of political opinion.

C. R. DOWNMAN.

Duncan, B.C.

LIBERAL HUMANISM

Phrases are being tossed into the crowd and an avalanche of invective, innuendo and vilification has been loosed by Sacred candidates. This "mud" has been flung at men who have honorably served their country and this province. Not "age" nor "creditable deeds" deflect the Sacred from their purpose to win the coming election at the expense of that which is decent in public relationships. Their devious "descent" in campaigning has already alienated all those who live by steadfast principle, no matter what their tendency to vote may have been.

Nothing can now save the Sacred from their own mud. To add absurdity to indignity they are currently flying banners announcing that Liberals and Conservatives are the Socialist party. How glibly do they think the electorate have become?

Too readily confused at election time, the public has now been jolted into awareness. They know the clean slate of candidates before them, shorn at last of dead wood.

Universally known is the fact that real labor legislation began with the Liberal administration, and has progressed under this form of government ever since, with added social services!

British Columbians have accepted these benefits and have become inspired to achieve more. They do not, I think, propose to lose or diffuse these benefits by "voting in" Sacred totalitarian state. Liberals did not invent human nature, but they did produce humanism in legislation and those men who were no longer a contributing part of this great Canadian party fell away to give place to men of realism.

This is democracy at work, a pattern followed by a government for the good of all in which there is no room for the "weak links" that portend fascism.

BY MANY WINDS

Emerson is more valuable to us for being, with all his piquant originality, a growth that has had a great variety of origins. This plant, though it springs from American soil, bears fruits from blossoms quickened by the pollen of thought borne by many winds from many lands, some of them millenniums deep in history. The religious thought and the worldly wisdom of Socrates and Plato, of the Jewish moralists and of Jesus, of the Bhagavad-Gita and the Upanishads, of the Persian poets, of the Chinese books of wisdom, of Montaigne, of Shakespeare and of Goethe have together produced the essential ripeness. New liberalism must inevitably sprout from the bitter seed bed of the experience of the race in our own half-formed century, but they may need much ripening before they can serve as substitutes for such a liberalism as Emerson's.

Awaiting the Coronation Story

Stott

LONDON today is many of the world's leading newspaper figures. Among them are experts of top-notch ability, specialists in all forms of writing and masters of news prose. And I'm wondering what the truly great story of the Coronation will be. Someone, perhaps one of the bright names in journalism, perhaps a person virtually unknown, will produce a piece that catches the spirit of the ceremony and phrases it in a way to capture the hearts of millions.

It goes without saying that coverage of the event will be excellent. All the ability represented by the men and women handling the assignment is a guarantee of that.

But somewhere, in a newspaper of international repute or one known and respected only by its local subscribers, will appear a story that shines above the rest.

GREAT IN SIMPLICITY

I think it will be a simple thing, something written with a spartan use of words, short, complete and dignified as only undecorated prose can be. I think it will be a story sparse in adjectives, gentle as the touch of a small child's hand but strong as steel. It will be written by someone whose eyes pierce the glitter and pomp of the ceremony to reveal the heart-beat of peoples paying homage to a young woman who is the symbol of an ideal.

It may be the final benediction of an old man, seeing clearly a glory there for all to recognize but obscured somehow by the worldliness of our times.

It may be the quick penetration of the young, untroubled yet by complexities and able to catch a fresher view of truth and significance among millions showing in their own way their devotion to the crown and all it means to them.

It may be a humble prayer rising from the lips of some devout person unknown.

There will be fine stories marching majestically across the printed columns—the rolling syllables of acknowledged craftsmen set down surely as the record of the event.

There will be a thousand sidelights, gracefully presented—the behavior of a small boy whose hands, so child-like now, may hold the scepter in another age. There will be descriptions of regal personages stately in appearance. Thousands of words will be written about the Londoners themselves behaving as only they can behave at a Coronation.

A THOUSAND THEMES

More writers will treat the off-beat pieces—the triumphs, the small personal disasters of men, women and children in vast crowds. A piece will come from some distant place describing the pathos, humor or perhaps grandeur of individuals or groups unable to be in London on the day, but there in spirit.

History will be woven into a hundred dispatches, raising the ghosts of bygone days, the unseen presences in the Abbey, the quiet, saintly men and women of an earlier age, the rollicking rogues of another Elizabethan era.

There will be stories rich in gold and purple and scarlet, stories that echo to the tread of marching feet, the sharp rhythm of shod hooves striking pavement and the rumble of coaches. There will be tales of magnificence, of splendor, of courage, of humble devotion, of kings and of crowds.

And somewhere will be written a piece that reaches to the heart, the mind and the spirit of man. It will be worth looking for.

Assessing the Federal Chances

REFLECTION of Nova Scotia's Liberal government with reduced majority presents a pattern of the possible outcome of the general election expected to be called this summer by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

That was the general consensus among political sources and observers in Canada's capital following the vote which saw Premier Angus Macdonald's government returned to power.

Liberals found the results "very reassuring" and predicted that federally the Liberal party would do even better, not only in Nova Scotia but across the country.

Progressive Conservatives were taking consolation in the fact that they had won an additional five seats. But they were disappointed at the defeat of their forces as there had been a growing conviction in the Tory camp that they might even form the government.

Fact that the CCF made no gains, but held the two seats they had in the former house was being interpreted here as an indication that the socialist party will not be much of a factor in the federal fight.

Unknown factor federally will be the Social Credit party. They had no candidates running in the Nova Scotia campaign, therefore in assessing the results as a possible pattern for the general election, the absence of Social Crediters from the provincial picture must be taken into consideration.

It is believed here that the Social Credit candidates where they are in the running federally will tend to take votes from the Progressive Conservatives, thereby lessening the chances of a Conservative win at the polls, rather than hurting the Liberals.

The Liberal party won reelection in Nova Scotia with 49.7 per cent of the popular vote compared with 51 per cent in 1949, according to Canadian Press tabulations.

The Progressive Conservative candidates polled 42.9 per cent of the total vote. The CCF vote which elected the same two members as in the last house dropped to 6.8 per cent from 10 per cent.

Liberals saw in the Nova Scotia vote a clear indication that when the party goes to the polls this year in a general election it will be returned to power, but with a slightly reduced majority. With the Liberals having enjoyed a plurality in parliament of more than 100 members, even the most optimistic members of the party do not expect such a sweep in their favor again.

One of the main issues in the Nova Scotia campaign were charges of "waste and extravagance" hurled at Premier Macdonald's government by the PCs. It failed to impress the voters apparently. A similar issue has been used by the federal Progressive Conservatives in attacks on Prime Minister St. Laurent's government.

Where the Conservatives won seats in Nova Scotia mainly was on the south shore between Halifax and Yarmouth. Here the opposition cashed in on local conditions of unrest and dissatisfaction among the fishermen—rising out of the fact that catches have been very poor during the past two years.

Liberal provincial seats in the counties which are included in the federal riding represented by Hon. Robert Winters, minister of resources and development, were won by Progressive Conservatives. The Tories were jubilant over this development and predicted it would mean the defeat of Mr. Winters federally.

Liberal sources here said that the losses in those seats were directly attributable to the local conditions with the fishermen where there was genuine distress caused by poor catches. They are confident that Mr. Winters will have no difficulty in winning his seat when the federal vote is held.

All told the Nova Scotia results have been encouraging for the Liberals as they prepare for the federal election fight which Prime Minister St. Laurent will probably announce immediately after his return from the Coronation.

3-D Can Be Tough on Actors

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new 3-D techniques may be a boon to the box-office, but they can be tough on actors.

So says Ann Miller, who now is tapping her way through "Kiss Me Kate," the first big musical to be done in wide-screen and three dimensions. The actors are doing their work under huge banks of bright lights.

"The other day the temperature on the set was 120 degrees," Miss Miller said. "Then I had to step in and do a dance number in front of three mirrors. You can imagine how hot that was!"

The extra lights are needed for two reasons: (1) The camera's range is wider and more of the set must be lighted; (2) The set must be brighter because of the light lost by viewing the picture through tinted glasses.

While the movie set is hot, the rest of the stage is air conditioned to a cool temperature. The change of temperature has been causing sinus trouble and colds for Miss Miller, Kathryn Grayson and other members of the cast and crew.

"And then we're supposed to act gay and carefree in front of the camera!" Ann exclaimed.

New dimensions in movies are readily available in the Los Angeles area, at least. Theatrical pages list ads for eight different attractions, all with some new kind of gimmick. Now if the studios would only get together on one kind of system the rest of the theatres might also be able to do business.

Arch Oboler has never revealed the cost of his pioneering 3-D epic, "Bwana Devil." But from a reliable source I hear that it ran $200,000. The bill came to about $300,000 with the cutting and processing. Not a bad investment for a film that is bringing in millions.

600 at Cathedral For Coronation Musical Program

Some 600 persons Sunday afternoon attended a special Coronation program presented at Christ Church Cathedral by the Victoria Choral Society with Graham Steed conducting.

The program opened with the choir singing choruses from Handel's "Samson," with words adapted to the occasion.

A feature of the program was the presentation of the traditional Coronation Anthem, sung by chorists at Coronation time since George II took the throne in 1727.

Peter Hodgson, accompanist to the choir, was heard as a soloist in the presentation of a Handel organ concerto. Margaret Dunn, soprano, also was heard in a solo number.

Included among works performed by the large chorus was a moving interpretation of the beautiful "Jerusalem."

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

B.C., Alberta Miners Reject Agreement Reached by Leaders

CALGARY (CP)—For the first time in 20 years, members of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, have rejected an agreement reached by their leaders with 19 Alberta and southeastern British Columbia mine owners.

Robert Livett, union president, said Sunday night that all but two locals had been heard from. The "nays" at that time were leading the "ayes" by nearly 50 votes and there was not a large enough membership in these two locals to swing the trend.

A meeting of the union's policy committee has been called for Wednesday.

One of the matters to be dealt with by the committee is the fact that the membership is in two provinces and thus comes under two labor acts.

The contract dispute with the Coal Operators' Association of Western Canada for the 1953 agreement has already exhausted negotiation, conciliation and arbitration proceedings. The vote on the agreement was decided by a straight majority of the 6,500 men affected.

It is understood the holidays with pay clause in the agreement is the most unpopular part. Under it holidays are based on the wage rate and so some it would mean less holidays than they now are receiving.

Further negotiations are likely and, if they fail, a strike could follow.

Jockey Gets Knighted, So Does Hobbs

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II conferred knighthood today on a jockey, a cricket champion and an actor in a Coronation eve honors list rewarding almost 1,500 of her subjects for meritorious services.

The combined Coronation and birthday honors list included 220 women, one of them an Olympic skating champion.

The Queen named four new peers. She also bestowed awards on the Archbishop of Canterbury, an atomic scientist, a jet pilot, a fashion designer and scores of her subjects connected with the Coronation ceremony even those who built grandstands along the parade route.

The jockey raised to knighthood was 49-year-old Gordon Richards, who has ridden a record number of winning horses more than 4,600. He is the first jockey thus honored.

Another sports figure named a knight was Jack Hobbs, regarded as the world's greatest cricket batsman. Hobbs, 70, is now retired.

The Queen also named her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, as captain general of the Royal Marines, and appointed Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret as colonels of regiments.

Tilly Rolston Says Liberals Have No Hope

B.C. Electioneering Held Federal Move

The federal Liberal Party is only "flying a kite" in the June 9 provincial election, Education Minister Tilly Rolston said at an Oak Bay Junior High School meeting Saturday night.

The minister contended the Liberals know they haven't a chance to win the election, but are participating simply to lay the groundwork and organization for the coming federal election.

She described new Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, a former MP, as a "Charlie McCarthy" for the federal Liberal party.

"This man with a Messiah complex from Ottawa" was her first description of Mr. Laing.

The minister stressed that Pro-Rec has not been abolished, but the Sacred government is merely putting it on a basis where the people using it pay a little for it, instead of the taxpayers footing the whole bill.

Mrs. Rolston and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Oak Bay candidate, explained to the meeting why they joined the party.

Mrs. Rolston, a former Tory, said she quit that party because she was tired of seeing the people pushed around by the Coalition government.

Mr. Gunderson decided to get into public service when his son went to Korea instead of to do his bit in an unsettled university. He said he wanted world.

Mendes-France Would Abandon Indo-China

Man Asked to Head New French Government Would Lift Country From Economic Mess

PARIS (AP)—The bid of Pierre Mendes-France to head a new French cabinet has pushed the wasting war in Indo-China into the foreground of new and perhaps more serious efforts of this country to get out of a mess.

Mendes-France, at 46 one of the youngest and brightest lights on the French political horizon, has repeatedly demanded that France get out of Indo-China by negotiation the best way it can and concentrate its strength on building up in Europe.

He will outline his position Wednesday before the National Assembly.

France, now 10 days without a government, is faced with a three-decker crisis, and for the first time in many a day Frenchmen have begun to see their country in the same light as foreigners have long seen her.

Since the Assembly voted Rene Mayer out of office May 21 because he insisted on making serious financial reforms by a speed-up decree method, the country has treated itself to an orgy of self-scolding.

THREE-PLY CRISIS France's three-pty crisis is this:

1. The treasury is nearly empty, and the balance of trade is getting ever worse while the franc is getting ever weaker.

2. A "three-pty" conference is in the offing and France's prolonged governmental instability is wearing out the patience of both Britain and the United States.

3. The Indo-China war and a resurgent Germany threaten

Yanks Hold Edge; Books Take Lead

By JOE REICHLER
Washington's "old guard" is pushing the revitalized Senators back into the American League pennant race as a possible new challenger to New York Yankees' bid for a fifth straight championship.

Three of the senior members of the "old guard"—35-year-old Mickey Vernon, 31-year-old Clyde Volmer and 30-year-old Frank Shea—boomed the three-gun salute Sunday as the Senators roared past Boston into the first division with a pair of victories over the Red Sox, 5-4 and 4-0. On the mound, Shea gave up nine hits in the shutout, his fourth straight victory.

Washington, winner of four of its last five games, still trails the league-leading Yankees by 6½ games, but is only two lengths away from second place Cleveland. The Yankees trounced Philadelphia Athletics 7-1, concentrating their attack on Alex Kellner, who had shut them out in his two previous starts against them.

Cleveland swept past Chicago into second place with an 8-1 triumph Sunday.

White Sox were held to a split in their doubleheader with the Browns. St. Louis took the nightcap, 7-4, after the White Sox had won the opener by the same score.

DOGGERS LEAD
Brooklyn's blazing Dodgers roared into first place in the National League, winning their ninth and 10th in a row at the expense of Pittsburgh Pirates. The Dodgers made it eight out of eight over Pittsburgh, 4-3 and 4-1, to plunk the Bucs into the basement.

Brooklyn needed help from Cincinnati to move into first place by half a game over Milwaukee. The Redlegs swapped 8½ decisions with the Braves, winning the opener to shove Milwaukee out of the lead.

St. Louis' stubborn Cardinals rebounded from Saturday's double setback, whipping Chicago Cubs, 6-2, to remain 2½ games off the pace.

Bob Lemon hurled an eight-hitter to hand the Tigers their seventh successive loss. Home runs by Bill Glynn and Larry Doby hastened Art Houtteman's fourth loss. Lemon has now split 10 decisions. (See scores page 9.)

Kramer Compiles 54-41 Net Edge
NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI).—Jack Kramer ended winner of his U.S. professional tennis tour against Australia's Frank Sedgman, but not without the Aussie having the last word.

Kramer won the series 54 matches to 41, but Sedgman won the final meeting at Balboa Bay club Sunday, 6-3, 10-8, before a sellout crowd of 1,000. Pancho Segura took a 71-25 decision over Australian Ken McGregor during the tour, downing McGregor in the final match, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5. The doubles wound up tied at 49 matches each with the Aussies capturing the final, 6-4, 6-4.

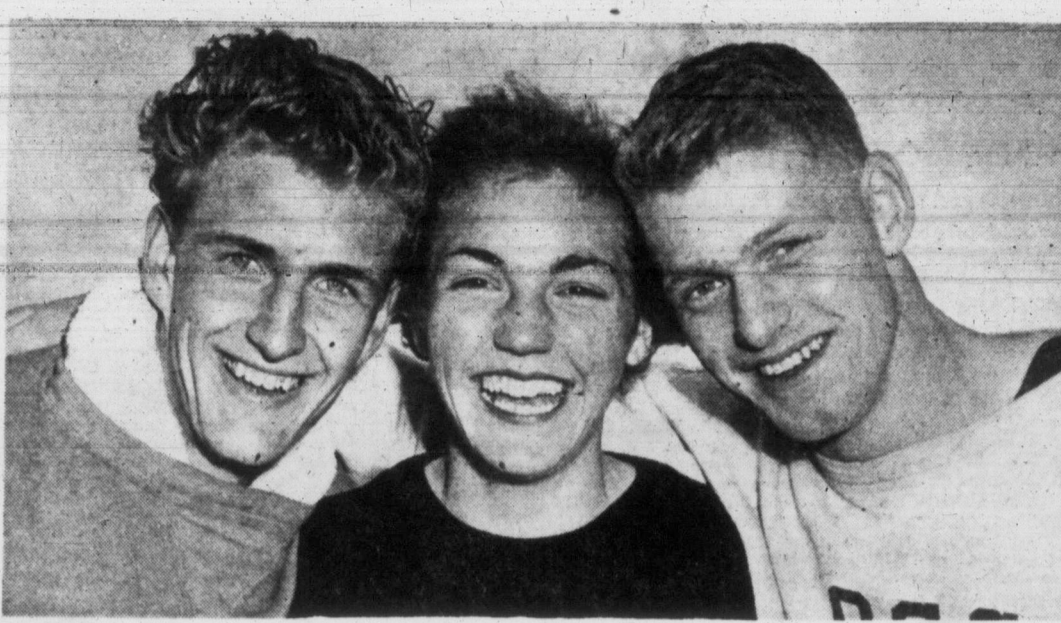

The players will rest until June 12, when they open a Canadian tour in Halifax, N.S.

Cream of the Prep Track Crop

Mainland athletes made a virtual runaway of the fifth annual B.C. inter-high school track and field meet at Vic High Friday and Saturday, taking all the silverware home with them. This speedy threesome left their names engraved in the record books. Ron Lucas, left, of Vancouver Tech, set new record in the 440 and 880 and was second in boys' aggregate point standings. King George's Joyce Wilson won the girls' aggregate and tied the record in the 60-yard dash. Duke of Connaught's Harry Nelson was the boys' aggregate winner, setting new standards in the 100, 120-yard hurdles and the 220. (See story Page 9.) (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

The two are paired together in the draw, released today, for the opening round inaugurating the Canada Cup matches. Seven international twosome teams are definite starters. Eighteen holes will be played both Tuesday and Wednesday, the two some with the lowest medal score winning. The PGA matches, over 54 holes this year, will start Friday.

Touring Team Meets City Here Tuesday

Describing the touring Irish international football team as "amazingly fast," manager Tommy Restell of the Victoria All-Stars today promised a spectacular show for football fans Tuesday.

That's the occasion of the Coronation Day match between the Victoria team and Ireland at Athletic Park. Match starts at 2:30.

Restell said Ireland's 31 victory over the mainland All-Stars Saturday was one of the fastest games he had ever seen, especially in the second half. However, he asserted that his charges were ready to meet the invasion of the "Cinderella team" of the international table.

Inside right, Eddie Crossan, scored two goals for the Irish. He opened the scoring at the 16-minute mark of the first half and netted his second 10 minutes into the second half.

Ireland took a 2-0 lead at the 33-minute mark of the opening 45 minutes on a neat play with Sam Hughes to catch the Vancouver defense napping.

FIRST GOAL.
Fred Whittaker became the first Canadian to score on the visitors, taking a pass from Luke Lindenberg at the 36 mark to beat goalie Upchurch cleanly.

Two of the outstanding players for the Irish in a "field of stars," as described by Restell, were left-winger Norm Lockhart and right-winger Jackie Scott.

Team line-ups for Tuesday's match will be found alongside.

BISHOP HURLS ONE-HITTER
Odd Fellows moved into a first place tie with Gyros in Little League baseball team standings Sunday by downing the league leaders, 7-1, behind the one-hit pitching of Steve Bishop, who performed an identical pitching feat in the league opener.

Bishop was in fine form as he struck out 16 of 18 batters while walking four. Only blow came off his slants in the first inning when Jim Galbraith doubled to drive in the losers' only run.

George Wilson was the big stickler for the winners with a double and two singles in three times at bat. Barry Williams chipped in with two singles in Odd Fellows' seven-hit attack.

PITCHING AID ASSURED TYEES

Victoria Tyees will have pitching help within a matter of days.

Club president Arthur Cox said he had been assured of this assistance, but declined to give details.

It is believed, however, that the mound aid will come from Portland Beavers of the Coast League and will definitely strengthen the club.

CORONATION TIPS—First of all, apologies to my Sunday air listeners.
 The last word I had before broadcast time was that "Mississippi Gambler" opened today at the Odeon. Through a change of plans it was decided to hold over "Moulin Rouge," the excellent John Huston directed play about the life of French artist Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec. "Mississippi Gambler," starring Ty Power, will open Thursday.
 A reportedly excellent Coronation show is now playing at the Royal—"Young Bess." This is the story of the early years of Elizabeth I. Haven't seen it myself yet but will report on it tomorrow. The cast sounds good, Jean Simmons, hubby Stewart Granger and Charles Laughton.
 And at 11.30 tonight the Dominion's doors open on a Coronation midnight treat, "Scared Stiff." This stars No. 1 box-office attractions Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. Elizabeth Scott and Carmen Miranda are thrown in for good measure.
 In this one Martin, a cabaret singer, and Lewis a stage-struck boy, meet Liz Scott, who has inherited an island near Cuba. She receives a telephone warning not to sell the property to a mysterious buyer, and when the man who made the phone call is killed Dean Martin and he and Jerry find themselves aboard a ship bound for Cuba. Evidently the whole thing teems with ghosts, zombies and other turbulent spirits of the metaphysical.
 That's all.

Rosenbergs' Son Asks Eisenhower To Free Parents
NEW YORK (AP)—The young son of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg has asked President Eisenhower to "let my mommy and daddy go," the committee to secure justice in the Rosenberg case announced Sunday.
The committee said the letter was written May 20 by 10-year-old Michael Rosenberg before old Michael Rosenberg before the United States Supreme Court rejected a last appeal to set aside a death sentence for his parents.
There was no immediate comment on the letter in Washington.

Children Romp At Park Fair, Deck Maypole

Belmont Crowning Opens Festival

A children's fair at Windsor Park, Oak Bay, and a Maypole celebration with May Queen crowning at Belmont Park, Colwood, opened a four-day festival Saturday that will mark the Coronation for Greater Victoria youngsters.

Several hundred kiddies swarmed over Windsor Park to share in special rides, games and frolics. At Belmont they marched in their own parade, behind the HMCS Naden band.

Gen. Pearkes Warns B.C. Electors To Take No Chances With Economy

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes expressed concern Saturday that "some foolish economy" in government might wreck British Columbia's present enviable financial position.

Speaking at a Progressive Conservative meeting at the K of P Hall in Sidney, the general said "We are on the threshold of a tremendous development. How easily it could be wrecked by some foolish economy. It is a great responsibility on the shoulders of the electors."

Gen. Pearkes appeared with Conservative leader Deane Finlayson at a meeting in support of Mrs. Nora Lindsay, PC candidate in Saanich.

The general repeated an earlier prediction of his that the June 9 election would give no one party a majority in the House.

Mr. Finlayson paid tribute to all Progressive Conservative candidates. He acknowledged it was easier for people to go out and join a new party than it was to stand by an established party which had setbacks.

He said Tory standard bearers stood for "a return to sanity and the basic principles of sound government."

Mr. Finlayson was critical of the Social Credit election campaign.

"Mr. Bennett has said it will be either Social Credit or chaos," the PC leader noted. "We have the chaos now. Where there was confusion at the last election, there is certainly chaos in this one."

He charged Social Credit with reducing the civil service in a most reckless way, and promised a Conservative government would remove the civil service from political meddling.

Mrs. Lindsay said she had added a plank of her own to the Progressive Conservative platform which she supports.

VICTORIA'S MOST-LISTENED-TO STATION

Victorians Pray at Park for Beloved Young Sovereign

By AILEEN CAMPBELL
Men and women from all walks of life obeyed the Queen's request when they gathered Sunday afternoon in hundreds on the greens of Beacon Hill Park.

Their voices rose in hymn and prayer for Queen Elizabeth II on the eve of her Coronation—a request she made to her subjects on her ascent to the throne.

Taking part in a divine service held under auspices of the Victoria Ministerial Association in Cameron Memorial Pavilion, they heard Dean P. R. Beattie, of Christ Church Cathedral, liken the Coronation to the consecration of a bishop.

He told the vast gathering in the sunny amphitheatre that the service was symbolic of the fact that "behind all life is God—that all authority comes from God."

"We will be an easy mark for any kind of totalitarianism unless we are strong in the faith which has produced freedom, democracy and service to the world," Dean Beattie stated.

"The future belongs to Christ—not to Malekoff or any ism, paganism or materialism."

"Emphasizing the Crown as a link which binds and unites people of diverse background into one people, the dean stated the world would be an infinitely more dangerous place if the British Commonwealth fell to pieces."

"The Queen's life will be a life of service," he said. "There is no more hardworking person than the modern sovereign."

About 200 members of the Canadian Legion and auxiliaries paraded to the band shell under Brig. Gen. W. W. Foster. A color party of 11—one representative from each of the Canadian Legion branches in the area presented the colors to Rev. T. H. McAllister and Rev. S. V. H. Redman prior to the service.

Major G. S. A. Yardley was parade marshal.

Mr. McAllister of Gorge

Presbyterian, conducted the divine service assisted by Major T. Ellwood of the Salvation Army; Mr. Redman of Victoria West and James Hay United Churches and Rev. James Smith of Emmanuel Baptist.

The 32-man band of HMCS Naden under baton of Chief Petty Officer Michaux provided the program music and began and concluded with Haydn Wood's new "Queen Elizabeth March."

The 75th HAA reserve army band played for the legion marchers.

Chinese Contingent Big Parade Feature

Lion Discourages All Evil Spirits On March Route

Victoria Chinese are going all out in preparation for Tuesday's Coronation celebration here.

The Chinese section in the big Coronation Day parade will be the largest ever entered by the Chinese community in any local celebration, and will include some of the most colorful Chinese festival features.

The Chinese contingent will be "protected" by a lion which will prance and jump over the mile-and-a-half parade route, to drive away all evil spirits.

Two "undercover men" are required for the lion dance. Since it is so strenuous, a series of substitutions will be required to keep the animal frisky.

Another parade item in the Oriental tradition will be the appearance of Low Hoi Sin.

LOAD OF TOKENS

According to Chinese folklore, Low Hoi Sin once took a bag of lucky tokens to a queen on her birthday. The queen appreciated the gesture but ordered that he should divide the tokens among her subjects. This he did.

Old people, who, received a token, the Chinese say, were blessed with long life. Young people, who shared in the distribution, were assured of strength and good health.

A special place for Low Hoi Sin will be provided in Tuesday's parade. The man who represents him will distribute lucky tokens to spectators. These tokens, according to the Chinese, will bring the same blessings as the original ones.

The two floats in the Chinese section will depict "The Gift of God" and "The Eight Immortals."

"The immortals roam the earth, giving wealth and happiness to all deserving people, Chinese believe. Only on important occasions do they congregate."

In addition to the floats, the Chinese will present a standard-bearer party, a girls' drill team, a school children's unit and official car.

Belmont Park Queen Is Crowned

Crowning of Margaret Nelson as May Queen was the highlight of Belmont Park May Day celebrations, at Johns Swains Memorial School Saturday. Mayor Claude Harrison placed the crown on Miss Nelson's head as she took over her "royal" duties. (Story, Page 12).—(Times Photo.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

A Victoria lady has thought of a splendid way to "cash in on" the Coronation.

She has invited friends and neighbors to witness the pageantry on her television set—and has told them she is going to take up a collection.

The proceeds will go to a work over which she is rightfully enthusiastic, that of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

If you're a TV owner, it's not too late to arrange a Coronation gathering on behalf of your favorite charity.

My nomination for the best Coronation cartoon goes to Mary Gibson on page 40 of this week's Collier's Magazine. Drawing shows friend husband relaxed in his easy chair, a stubble of beard on his chin, his collar unfastened, a can of beer in his hand, seated in front of his TV set.

At which moment his wife, who is dressed to kill, exclaims: "George! You're not going to watch the Coronation like that, are you?"

Every U.S. publication I've encountered this month has devoted glowing columns to the Coronation and to British royalty in general.

The Coronation is receiving more space than devoted to the inauguration of a president. When you read the U.S. newspapers and magazines, you have the feeling our southern cousins have adopted the "big show" as their own.

Radio and TV, to an even greater extent, seems to have taken over the Coronation. The major networks are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on special coverage; the TV people have chartered planes, torn out the seats and installed laboratory equipment so TV films will be processed, cut and edited while the aircraft is rushing across the Atlantic.

A radio announcer from the U.S. mid-west seemed to sum it up the other night, when he said "be sure to listen to this station Tuesday for details of the Coronation of our Queen."

It may have been a slip of the tongue—but it was certainly appropriate.

The men who formulated the current Moscow Party Line (get the Yanks and their Allies mad at each other) must be biting their fingernails this week.

Puppet Coronation in Window Wins Award

The Jean Burns Ltd. store window at 1211 Douglas has won the grand prize offered by the Greater Victoria Celebrations authority for the best window display on the Coronation theme, it was announced today. The puppet miniature, seen above, depicts the Coronation ceremony, with a backdrop of a cathedral setting. The display topped all sections. Award winners in Section 1 were: W. & J. Wilson, Standard Furniture Company, F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd. In Section 3, which Jean Burns Ltd. led, came Brown's Victoria Nurseries, the Plume Shop Ltd. No Section 2 entries were judged. Requirements in all classes were identical. (Times Photo.)

COURT CUTS CELEBRANTS' SENTENCES

Six celebrants from the Indian reservations were free to go home today, although they had broken the law.

Instead of the usual penalty of imprisonment in default of fine for drinking to excess of having liquor in their possession, the six were given only one day in default of fine payment.

The proviso... that they go home to their reservations to celebrate the Coronation... was explained by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city court.

Indians Honor Queen In Colorful Festival

Six hundred Vancouver Island Indians paid homage to Queen Elizabeth at a colorful and spectacular week-end festival at Maple Bank Park, Plummer Bay, Esquimalt.

The festival Saturday and Sunday featured dances, sports, canoe races and a football game between two Indian bands.

One of the most spectacular events was the performance by a Nanaimo Indian family of a special "schwy-why" dance in honor of the Queen's Coronation. The dance represented the feelings and emotions of the Indian people for the young Queen.

Chief Percy Ross of the Songhees said the dance was performed only on rare occasions. The Nanaimo family is the only one which has the right to perform the dance, he added.

Tasty clam chowder and dried salmon was served during the festivities.

Betty Newton, a painter of Indian life, and several visitors from United States, described the festival as one of the "most colorful" they have seen. "They were magnificent some of the canoe races," said Miss Newton. "I hope the Indians hold another festival like this next year."

Ex-Banker to Chair Talk on Loggers' Pay

F. J. Lynn, retired Vancouver banker, has been named by the Labor Relations Board as chairman of a conciliation board to hear the current contract dispute between coast logging and lumber operators and employees.

Mr. Lynn was appointed following failure of the representatives named by the employers and employees to agree on a chairman.

The three-man board will set its own date for the conciliation hearing, to be held in Vancouver.

Union demands include a 15-cent hourly across-the-board wage increase, six additional paid statutory holidays, full union shop, and other lesser points.

No Indian Opera, But Vaudeville Promised at York

Disagreement among the Indians forced cancellation of the performance of the native opera Tzinquaw which was to have opened Saturday at the York theatre manager B. B. Milnes said today.

Tzinquaw has been booked for a week's run.

The York plans as its next offering a vaudeville show. The variety show will open Thursday for an unspecified run.

Eight acts have already been signed, including the Victoria quartet, Betts and Her Buddies, and local magician Ernie Crookford.

Mr. Milnes said public response to the new venture would determine the length of the run, and that if the concert troupe received good support, it might run all summer.

Immigrant, Ignorant Of Law, Pays Penalty

Record Welfare Payments Made Here in May

Federal welfare payments in British Columbia in May reached an all-time high of $5,351,930, W. R. Bone, regional director for the department of national health and welfare said here today.

Last Saturday the mean temperature was 48 degrees, lowest for any May 30 since the keeping of weather records was begun.

Victim of Gassing Told to Quit Drink

A man of 45, charged with attempted suicide, agreed with Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today when asked: "Isn't it better to end your drinking than end your life?"

The man had tried to gas himself and admitted, when Magistrate Hall questioned him on a point in the probation officer's report, that drinking was the chief cause of his troubles.

The accused was given a one-year suspended sentence, ordered to post a bond of $1,000 to ensure his good behaviour for that period, especially in regard to liquor.

TINY DOG HELD TO RANSOM

Telephoned Threats Ask Cash to Save Pup's Life

Mysterious, threatening telephone calls and a missing puppy indicated a possible case of "dog-napping" in Victoria today.

The tiny victim is six-month-old Chiquita, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, 833 1/2 Fort Street. Chiquita, who is mostly Chihuahua, sneaked out the back door last Wednesday evening when her owners weren't looking.

Four days later, on Sunday, came the first of four phone calls. A youthful voice told Mr. Smith "your dog will be dead before morning." The connection was broken before Mr. Smith could answer.

Two similar calls followed, and then a fourth. This time the same young voice said: "We are holding your dog for ransom. We want $50, or your dog will be destroyed."

Again the connection was broken before Mr. Smith could reply.

He notified police at 9:30 p.m. Since that time, there have been no further calls.

According to Mrs. Smith, Chiquita is a friendly little dog who "just loves everybody." She has no idea who could have stolen the puppy.

How to Regain Lost Art of Conversing?

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

No matter what it's in—whether writing, skating, throwing a ball, or conversing with people—a proficiency can and usually does suffer from disuse. What a person can do then is the concern of this woman:

(Q) "My problem is uneasiness when talking to people. While I worked, I did not have this but now I don't see many people and, when I visit with neighbors and friends, I am frequently self-conscious, uneasy and stiff. I am not shy and I like people. Since I cannot go out much because of young children, I should like to feel more natural with these friends and neighbors."

(A) It is certainly important to the mental health of a young mother to keep her contacts with people so she will not get stale on her job. Women who lose contact become self-centred, bored, and uninteresting. This is bad for the whole family.

You are fortunate to be free from self-consciousness and shyness. And having mastered the art of conversing before marriage, it should be easy for you to get it back now.

All you have to do is to polish off the rust that has settled on this fluency since your marriage. This you would have to do to any skill you allowed to suffer from disuse. It won't take long, once you tackle it.

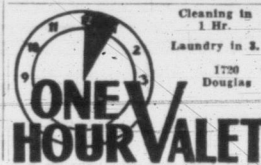

Here are some of the things you can do: First, make a point of speaking with at least one neighbor every day. When you see a neighbor on the street, or in the back yard, go over and talk to her, if only for a few minutes.

Then, telephone one friend daily, preferably during your children's nap time or in the evening when you can carry on the conversation without worrying about them. These daily chats that will keep your friendships alive, they will bring new interests into your life, and they will restore your confidence in your conversational ability.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

THE CORONATION STORY

Queen Sure and Happy! And Her Subjects Adore Her...

By RETA MYERS

LONDON—A radiant and beautiful young queen has taken London by storm! Gone is the diffident, reserved and quiet young princess who travelled in Canada two years ago. In her place stands the Queen of England, sure and happy, with her mother's gracious charm and her father's humanity and steadfastness!

Whenever you see her, and in London this week her car seems to be passing in and out the gold and black gates of Buckingham Palace many times daily, her lovely flashing smile is spontaneous and radiant. She seems to be enjoying all the crowds, decorations and excitement as much as the thousands of people who break through the lines and encircle her car at every chance.

Thursday 1 was among the 5,000 and more guests who were commanded to attend the coronation garden party at Buckingham Palace. With me, were nearly 500 other guests from Canada, the largest contingent from the Dominion ever to attend such an affair. It was "Queen's" weather, blue sky, a few scudding clouds and a light and cool breeze that called for a light wrap over garden party clothes.

Getting there was a full-scale rehearsal for Coronation day and in the press of traffic on the Mall, we abandoned our car and took to the only sure source of locomotion... feet. Through crowds of people held back by policemen, and in company with grey top-hatted men and party-dressed women, we finally manoeuvred the last part of the trip.

Queen Mother Beautiful in White

From 4:15 to nearly six, Her Majesty, The Duke of Edinburgh and other members of the royal family circulated through the grounds, their presence marked by circling crowds of guests. No one looked lovelier than the Queen Mother Elizabeth, whose straight-line white dress and off the face flower brimmed hat, accentuated her new slenderness. When formal presentations were made, she stood beside Her Majesty and the Duke under a red canopy, a graceful gesture that everyone appreciated.

This party was acclaimed the best ever by the "regulars." Partly due to the colorful and brilliant display made by the costumes of hundreds of guests from all over the world. There was an African chief who wended his stately way into the royal enclosure under a vast silk umbrella, held by a white-robed attendant. Woolly-headed Nigerians in bright yellow and orange robes walked beside beautiful East Indian girls in gorgeous saris. One dark-skinned young beauty had her tightly-curled hair adorned with a couple of dozen red feathers stuck at angles; a tribal chief had his head encircled by a band of golden stars and crescents, his wrists and fingers heavy with enormous golden jewelry.

I had my first battle with Coronation traffic last Wednesday en route to the reception at B.C. House given by Agent-General and Mrs. W. A. McAdam in honor of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace. I came out of the scurry, drenched and with the London limp, the latter acquired by not being able to get near an underground station (believe it or not there are block-long queues) on a bus, or stop a taxi. So you walk.

There are some 9,500 busses in London and it looked as if most of them were concentrated in the area from Trafalgar Square to Piccadilly Circus. You could literally walk on the tops of them for a mile. But no one was impatient. As for the bus drivers, I asked a doctor who attends many of them what their occupational disease is... stomach ulcers... wouldn't you know it.

B.C. House Party a Success

The skies which opened and deposited tons of rain on 5 o'clock London Wednesday... had no effect on the McAdam party where London, Vancouver and Victoria mixed happily. Mrs. G. G. McGeer, her daughter Pat, Mrs. T. A. Spencer and Mr. David Spencer had just arrived back from a stay around the lake country and Mrs. McGeer is looking forward to a visit to Ireland. They will return to Vancouver about the middle of July. Former Vancouverites, Canadian Timber Commissioner and Mrs. Douglas Roe were renewing old acquaintances as was Major and Mrs. Gus Lyons, now of Toronto. Mayor and Mrs. Fred Hume found lots to talk about with the Lord Mayor of London and his wife whom they had met before, and the Gordon Farrellys of Vancouver, Mrs. T. A. Havemeyer and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, Victoria, were with the B.C. contingent.

Friday, the press contingent, which has been assigned seats in the Abbey for the Coronation, had the opportunity of seeing the final rehearsal. This was to familiarize those covering the Coronation with the ceremony, since it will be impossible to see everything on that day.

Credentials for this priority event were as many and as necessary as for the Coronation itself. And not one word of anything must be published and all those attending were asked to sign cards agreeing to this.

I expect to stay up most of the night of June 1, since we must be in the Abbey by 7 a.m. and the trip in from Kew to London may be a two-hour procession. So it is breakfast around four and seeing the dawn come up behind the London skyline. My packet of sandwiches, and a small silver container will go in my bag, and I expect to munch happily in Westminster Abbey on a second meal around 9 a.m.

The ministry of works has looked after the physical needs of the 7,600 guests with 150 chemical closets built outside the walls of the Abbey. To do this they have had to change stairways and make various other arrangements to place these in proper position. It is a bit of commentary on the tradition that surrounds the Coronation that these are marked "Peers," "Gentlemen," "Men," "Peersesses," "Ladies," "Women." But all must be according to plan.

In the meantime London decorations are something to marvel at. Fleet Street, always tilting with "dragons," has blossomed out with the St. George red cross-and-dagger on white background and ropes of white spanning the street. I understand the entire flood-lighting will not be turned on until Coronation night and that the illumination of the Mall, which is seen from the palace, is being kept as a surprise for Her Majesty.

May she find comfort and encouragement in the constant love of her people and her devoted consort. We join with her loyal subjects in our hope for the long and happy reign of Elizabeth II.

Represent Province at Coronation

Resplendent in their full Coronation regalia are Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace, official representatives for British Columbia, who are pictured here in a portrait taken for the Victoria Daily Times and flown direct from London. Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace are among the honored few who have Abbey seats reserved for them for the colorful historic event and will sit with other dignitaries representing all parts of the world. ### Quintette of Attendants in Bridal Party at St. Mary's Lilac and early summer flowers in tall standard baskets were placed at the chancel rail in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, for the wedding, Saturday evening, of Miss Maureen Ellen Renouf and Dalbert August Schroyen.

Archdeacon A. E. del. Nunn officiated for the daughter of Mrs. Stella Renouf, 440 Quebec Street, and the late Mr. W. Norman Renouf, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroyen, View Street. During signing of the register, Mrs. Gwen Sorenson sang "O Perfect Love." A. H. Sharpe gave the bride in marriage.

Ivory-satin-trimmed with lace created the bridal gown. The slight train was edged with lace and a finger-tip veil was held by a tiara of pearls and lily of the valley. White carnations and red rosebuds formed the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Wilma Anderson, the bride's sister, was matron of honor in pink satin and lace; Mrs. Molly Wright, bridesmaid, in green organdie, and Miss Barbara Leason, bridesmaid, in mauve satin and net gown. The trio carried complementary flowers and wore coronets of the same flowers in their hair.

Wendy and Tommy Anderson were a charming flower girl and ring bearer, the former wearing a yellow nylon hooped skirted gown and matching flowers and the latter in grey flannels and navy blue blazer. Clifford Heglin was best man and Harry Clarke and Robert Clarke, the ushers.

Reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wilma Anderson, 3130 Balfour Street, where a three-tier wedding cake was cut by the young couple. H. A. Rogers, San Diego, Calif., proposed the toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Schroyen are now traveling to San Francisco on honeymoon, the bride wearing a navy blue two-piece suit, navy accessories, pink hat and purse, a navy and white shortie coat and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

They will live at 3160 Quadra Street on return.

League of Roses, Coronation Dance, Wednesday at Golden Slipper Ballroom, Broad Street, between Yates and Johnson. Chuck Bardsley's orchestra.

CALDWELL'S RETURN HINTED

Cooper, Kostenuk Split Race Honors

By RON COULTER

Hardly fans who braved the chilly weather at Shearings Speedway Saturday night were treated to the best in auto racing, both big car and stock, from a competitive standpoint.

In big-car events, an old favorite of racing fans, Dave Cooper, and Ed Kostenuk each captured two races. Cooper, the flying plumber, walked off with victories in the second heat and 15-lap main event while Kostenuk won the trophy dash and first heat.

Cooper won the main in action that was typical of the entire show by edging out Kostenuk, who placed second, by about half a foot. Cooper had built up a good-sized lead in the early laps but ran into trouble when he was blocked from lapsing the two trailers.

Kostenuk closed the gap and coming into the straightaway both were even and then Cooper made the decision to take to the middle of the track, with Kostenuk on one side and another car on the other, and the move paid off. Kostenuk just scraped the rail as he went by the finish line in second position.

A five-lap match race between Verne Moore and Ken Madill developed into a one-way affair when Madill was forced out with motor trouble.

Jack Spaulding and Digger Caldwell, the latter a former speedster on the Langford track, were also in the match race but neither took part in competition. However, Caldwell, making his first appearance on the track, took Maddill's No. 1 car for a few laps during an intermission and this could indicate that he may intend to compete in the near future.

Stock cars were on hand, despite opposition by the Vancouver Island Track Roadster Association. Brownie Brown, who will be remembered for his racing at Langford, topped the stock drivers with two wins—first heat and 20-lap main—while Verne Moore and Charlie Flitton each took one event. Moore won the helmet dash and Flitton the second heat.

Cooper set a new one-lap record for stocks in his time trials when he circled the oval in 18.34 seconds. He shattered his previous mark of 18.65 set last week.

STOCK CAR

Helmet dash—1 Verne Moore; 2 Terry Ochoy; 3 Ken Madill.

First heat—1 Brownie Brown; 2 Dave Cooper; 3 Terry Ochoy.

Better Man

Won Says

Harvie Ward

HOYLAKES Eng. (UP) — Harvie Ward, styled by Ireland's Joe Carr in his bid to become the second American to win the British Amateur golf championship two years in a row, conceded today that "the better man" won but also said his fourth round match with Frank Stranahan was the toughest one he played in the tournament.

Ward, of Atlanta, Ga., was favored to give America its fourth straight title Saturday. But the defending champion, wearing three sweaters and three pairs of trousers as protection against the cold and wind, played his worst golf of the tournament as Carr scored a 2 up victory.

Carr, who needed three straight extra-hole triumphs to reach the final, didn't play well either but had the shots when he needed them.

"Carr was underrated in Britain but he has the right temperament for this type of golf. He came along with the right shot at the right time and that's what counts in match play. I just played badly and the better golfer won."

He used a masterful putting touch to clinch the $2,500 first prize with a four-stroke lead over runner-up Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, defending champion, Freddie Haas of New Orleans and Ed Furgol of St. Louis.

They finished the 72-hole test with a 282 total and split the prize money for $1,466.67 each.

Harrison finished the day with a 69, one under par for Belvedere Country Club's 6,574 yards.

Aussies Take

Doubles Title

PARIS (AP)—Bouding Ben Rosewell and Lewis Hoad crushed their fellow-Australians, Clive Wilderspin and Mervyn Rose 6-2, 6-1, 6-1 Sunday to win the French international men's doubles tennis championships.

The veteran American duo of Doris Hart and Shirley Fry defeated Maureen Connolly and Julia Sampson 6-4, 6-3 for the women's doubles title.

In the mixed doubles final an all-American unit of Selma and Miss Hart stopped Australia's Miss Hart and Connolly 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

A copy of the proposed By-law may be inspected at the office of the undersigned between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. on Monday to Friday inclusive.

TIME OUT! JEFF KEATE

Crema Gets Four as Tribe Trims Sons

Outplaying Nanaimo Native Sons throughout and paced by the four-goal performance of Larry Crema, PNE Indians increased their third-place Inter-City Lacrosse League lead over Sons to five points by defeating Nanaimo, 13-7, at the up-island centre Saturday night.

Holding a 4-3 lead at the half-way mark Indians outscored Sons, 4-3, in the third canto and then made sure of the game by scoring five times in the final period while Nanaimo could find the net only once.

The contest had 27 minutes in penalties called, with only 13 minutes against Sons, their lowest total this season.

Heff Heffernan was the big gun for the losers with three goals and Lou Landess notched an identical number for Indians.

Giardello Wins

NEWARK, N.J. (CP)—Joey Giardello, eighth-ranked middleweight from Philadelphia, shook off the effects of cuts over both eyes in the first round to go on and score an easy 10-round decision over Hurley Sanders of Newark Saturday night. Giardello weighed 159, Sanders 158. A crowd of 500 attended the televised fight.

England Defeated

B.C. TIMBER EXPORTS DEPEND ON U.S. DEMAND SAYS LPP

A 10 per cent slump in American demand would wipe out B.C. lumber exports to the United States, Irving Mortenson, Victoria LPP candidate, said at a week-end meeting.

The candidate, who is an unemployed logger, said his view is supported by Dr. Lowell Beasley, dean of forestry at UBC.

Mr. Mortenson urged the provincial government to send trade missions to re-open the traditional British and Commonwealth markets.

He pointed out before the Second World War 50 per cent of B.C.'s lumber exports were to Britain, and now 85 per cent goes to the U.S.

"We should accept sterling and barter exchange as a means of regaining lost markets," Mr. Mortenson said.

Reserve Army Colonel Asks Freer Leave for Trainees

Lieut.-Col. James Baird, commander of the 75th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, RCAF (reserve army), today expressed the hope that employers will co-operate to enable more members of his unit to attend this summer's outdoor training camp.

The unit will attend camp at Albert Head August 2 to 15 with other heavy-ack-ack units from Vancouver and other points east of British Columbia.

The 75th will be well-represented in the Coronation Parade on Tuesday morning. There will be a marching group, and a float bearing CWAC's (members of the women's army) who are now manning the command depot. The unit band will be with the marching group.

The 75th parade commander will be Maj. W. Orchard, the parade adjutant Lieut. Arthur E. Sherwin and Sgt.-Maj. Fletcher the parade sergeant-major.

Sgt. White will be NCO in charge of parade transport. Battery commanders involved will include Maj. T. Eckford and Capt. W. Gelling; Capt. A. E. Cameron the officer in charge of the float. All unit members will wear medals.

Regimental pay parade of the unit will be held at 8 p.m. at Bay Street Armory, June 24. This is a pre-camp pay parade and will cover parade attendance from Jan. 1 this year to May 31. Capt. Harry Gwilliam tells us that personnel not on this parade will not be paid until December this year. Those actually attending camp will be paid after the camp period.

ALEXANDRIA, Ont. (BUP)—Two brothers, Francis Boisvenu, 18, and Edie Boisvenu, 21, were instantly killed early today when their car plunged off the highway near here and overturned.

I was amused when we got her home to 145 Piccadilly to notice that her first thought was to tell Mummy of this wonderful experience.

Her mother was always very gentle with the children. She would take a great interest in their day's doings, and greet them with a "Well, darlings, and what have you seen today?"

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
From Geography to Her Majesty

The intimate biography of Queen Elizabeth, written by her good friend and former governess Marion Crawford, appears exclusively in the Victoria Daily Times in 25 chapters. Out of her 17 years of close association with the royal family "Crawford" has previously published "The Little Princess" and "Mother and Queen: The Story of Queen Mary."

From her earliest moments Queen Elizabeth has wasted no time on repeating the lore about the tapestry which Queen Mary had passed on to us. Instead, she ran to her mother and hugged her, saying, "Oh, Mummy, Mummy. There were three soldiers there!"

That interest in things military has remained with her. She would always stand fascinated at the window of 145 while the Guard marched across Hyde Park Corner in the mornings, splendid in their scarlet uniforms.

"Oh, look, Crawford," she would say excitedly. "Aren't they pretty?"

I used sometimes to see the same expression of interest across her face while she watched a parade of soldiers at a much later date.

However much the routine of her life may weigh on her, I am sure the military side of it will never bore her.

One of Queen Elizabeth's most charming traits was exhibited in her insistence that her sister, Princess Margaret, should be given all the attention due her. "This has persisted from childhood,"

When Princess Elizabeth, even as a very small girl, felt that visitors or friends were making so much fuss of her that Princess Margaret was in danger of being neglected. Princess Elizabeth would seize the first opportunity to say, "And now you must come and see my little sister."

The first time I saw that thoughtful gesture was when Princess Margaret was so young that she was still using her perambulator, but old enough to enjoy having people round her and to resent finding herself alone when she awoke from the afternoon nap. Princess Elizabeth made it her business to see that her sister was soon a centre of admiration.

This trait is still with her. Since her marriage it has had less opportunity for expression; and besides, Princess Margaret, with a personality that draws interesting people to her, never has a chance to feel neglected.

Queen Elizabeth has passed this on to her own children. An old ghillie who had spent years in the Royal Service at Balmoral and had just retired, was full of praise for Queen Elizabeth, whose charm and thoughtfulness had caused her to be revered by servants not only in her own home but wherever she went.

"And doesn't little Prince Charles take after his mother?" said the ghillie in broad Scots which had to be translated to be readable.

"Everybody loves him here in Scotland; the servants and tenants flock to see him. After a few moments of being the centre of admiration the little boy always takes the hand of the nearest person to him—usually a woman—and leads her to where Princess Anne is sitting up perkily in her pram. 'And now,' he says, 'you must all come and see my little sister.'"

Armed Pair Gets $1,000 in Store Robbery at Surrey

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Two armed men, both wearing silk-stocking masks, held up the proprietor of a hardware store in nearby Surrey late Sunday night and escaped with about $1,000.

First reports said the two men forced the owner of Anderson's Hardware to open the store safe at gun-point.

Police immediately set up road-blocks on all highways in the vicinity, about 20 miles south of Vancouver.

PLAY PRODUCER APPLAUDS Bill Buckingham, well known C.B.C. performer-producer of Theatre Under The Stars at Stanley Park, Vancouver, is used to winning high plaudits for his work.

Speaking of praise, Bill says "I'd like to share the stage with an old friend of mine—Canada Dry. Theatrical work can be pretty demanding, and a few minutes respite is always a pleasure, especially when there's a cool bottle of Canada Dry in the scene. I can always count on its delightful flavor to renew my enthusiasm."

500,000 Will Camp Overnight On Coronation Parade Route

Coronation Service in Park Draws 4,000

Four thousand gather under trees and on grassy slopes before Cameron Pavilion in Beacon Hill Sunday for special divine service to mark Coronation of

Weatherman Fearful Of Showers for City

But Planners Promise Cavalcade
Greatest in Victoria's History

The beat of drums, the measured tread of marching feet, flags snapping in a morning breeze and the glint of reflected sunshine on bayonets... the Coronation parade might appear like that, 9.30 Tuesday morning.

TIMES ON SALE EARLIER FOR HOLIDAYMAKERS

The Victoria Times Coronation Day issue, carrying the first direct wirephotos of the coronation in London, will be issued earlier than usual tomorrow. It will be on sale shortly after 1.30 p.m. People attending Coronation Day functions tomorrow will be able to get copies of the paper from newsboys, who will be present at all the major functions. Copies may also be reserved at The Times circulation department, B 3131.

Garson Refuses Federal Aid in Handling Douks

OTTAWA (BUP)—Justice Minister Stuart Garson today in effect turned down a request from British Columbia provincial officials for federal aid in dealing with the radical Sons of Freedom sect of the Douks hobos.

Garson, in an exchange of letters with provincial Attorney-General R. W. Bonner published today, said the province would have to formulate a specific policy.

Dealing with the sect, whose members parade nude and burn homes and barns to express their defiance of man-made laws, was the "constitutional responsibility of the province," Garson said.

Until a policy is formulated by the province, he told Bonner, "I do not think any further exchange of generalities would serve a useful purpose."

But Planners Promise Cavalcade Greatest in Victoria's History

The weatherman isn't hopeful. He says it will be a cloudy morning... with every chance of a few showers.

The weatherman won't promise the breeze or the sunshine, but the armed forces have promised the 2,000-man array of martial might, and the Elks, parade planners, promise a brilliant cavalcade of floats for the most thrilling march-past in Victoria's history.

The navy, the army, the air force and the mounted police will lead a host of drill units, floats and bands from Pembroke along Cook to Pandora to Quadra. Turning onto Yates the parade goes to Douglas to Piggard to Government to Belleville.

Floats will enter the government parking lot here while marchers proceed along Douglas to Beacon Hill Park.

Following speeches, the Royal Standard will be broken out and a 42-gun Royal salute will be fired. Chaplains of the (Continued on Page 13)

British Everest Party Believed Making Third Try

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters)—Occasional snow showers and cold weather were forecast for the Everest area Sunday as the final attempt by the British expedition to reach the summit was believed to be under way.

Two earlier assaults took the British climbers to within 1,500 feet of the summit of the 29,002-foot peak. The expedition has set itself a deadline of June 7 for success or failure due to the approaching monsoon.

Searchers Bring Out Bodies of 10 Fliers

Wreckage of Comox RCAF Bomber Found
On Oregon Peak; Missed Clearing by 100 Ft.

NORTH BEND, Ore. (CP)—The bodies of 10 RCAF men were to be brought down today from Iron Mountain, south of here.

They were killed last Tuesday when their Lancaster bomber crashed into the Coast Range ridge, 43 miles southeast of here.

A ground party which reached the wreckage Sunday reported that if the plane had been 100 feet higher, it would have missed the 4,000-foot ridge.

Several bodies and parts of the huge plane were found on the other side of the peak. Three bodies were found in the demolished fuselage.

The Coos County coroner said all were killed outright.

The wreckage was sighted first by a U.S. Coast Guard search plane Saturday after smoke was seen rising in the area. The smoke was from timber set afire by the crash.

On Sunday a ground party led by Sqdn. Ldr. J. Drake of Comox air base, B.C., reached

SIDELIGHTS

LONDON (CP)—Beating on a tom-tom, Chief Mathias Joe arrived in London by air today from British Columbia for the Coronation.

The chief of the 650-member Squamish tribe at Capilano, near Vancouver, bore $500 worth of gifts for the Royal Family, including a baby totem pole; and was dressed to kill.

LONDON (AP)—The Duchess of Kent, an elegant but absent-minded aunt of the Queen, had a date today to collect her coronet. She lost it Friday. It turned up hours later in a Mayfair hairdresser's salon which the Duchess had visited for a pre-Coronation trim.

LONDON (AP)—The Queen's gardener, William Hepburn, dropped dead Sunday while putting the finishing touches to a big Coronation display in Hyde Park.

The white-manned, 65-year-old Scot, who has been gardener of the royal parks, was long the gardening confidant of Britain's kings and queens. Queen Mother Elizabeth and the late Queen Mary frequently sought his advice on their roses.

LONDON (Reuters)—Forty members of Canada's Coronation contingent went for a five-mile hike before dawn Sunday in a last-minute rehearsal of the Coronation Day parade.

Three service detachments left Earl's Court, huge exhibition hall where 9,000 Commonwealth troops are billeted, at 4 a.m. and were back before London began to wake up.

Later, more than 700 Canadians, led by the band of the Royal 22nd Regiment, marched through the streets of London to timber up for their 14½ mile march Coronation Day.

SEOUL (AP)—The British Commonwealth division fighting in Korea will salute the Coronation Tuesday with artillery and tank fire along the front.

Division headquarters announced that celebration plans also involved a 35-minute Coronation parade.

TOKYO (Reuters)—Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations supreme commander, today sent Coronation greetings from all United States servicemen in the Far East to the British Commonwealth division.

To officers and other ranks of your gallant forces, I extend a warm and heartfelt "God Save the Queen," Clark said.

LONDON (Reuters)—More than 10,000 first aid workers—top men and women hand-picked from Commonwealth volunteer groups—are expecting at least a casualty apiece on Coronation Day.

At least 7,000 of them will be members of the St. John Ambulance Corps.

At the last crowning in 1937 there were 9,583 casualties and that day was cool and damp and crowds weren't as big as are expected this time.

South Korea Proposes U.S. Sign Defense Pact

New Demands Made by Rhee if Roks
To Drop Opposition to Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has proposed that President Eisenhower sign a four-point agreement pledging a mutual defense pact and future military and financial help to South Korea if the Seoul government is to drop its opposition to the United Nations truce terms, it was learned today.

Rhee's attitude—and what reply should be made to his proposition—presumably was up for discussion at a special meeting of the National Security Council.

White House called at the White House at noon.

An authoritative informant said the South Korean president submitted his program in a message to Eisenhower.

The four points which Rhee insisted Eisenhower must agree upon in advance were reported to be:

1. A pledge to sign a mutual defense pact with Korea guaranteeing the United States will come to Korea's aid in the event the Communists attack again once a truce has been signed.
2. A promise by the United States to undertake continued large-scale military and economic aid to South Korea.
3. Simultaneous withdrawal of all foreign forces, including Communist and United Nations troops, once truce arrangements are completed and prisoners exchanged.
4. Agreement by the United States that it and the United Nations will not try to stop South Korea from uniting the country once a truce has been agreed upon.

'Mr. Chris' Dies

Christopher Spencer, CBE, pioneer B.C. merchant, died in his sleep Sunday at Vancouver. He was 86. Born and educated at Victoria, he developed his father's small store, the eight-store Spencer's Ltd. chain which T. Eaton Company bought in 1948 for a reported $14,000,000.

Mr. Spencer also was a one-time owner of the Victoria Daily Times. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced. (See also Page 6.)

CHINHA, Korea (CP)—South Korea's ranking cabinet member said today his country can and will fight the Reds by itself if the Communists sign an armistice based on the latest Allied proposal—and he predicted they will.

As the rift widened between South Korea and her allies, Acting Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai emerged from a 3½-hour emergency cabinet meeting at President Syngman Rhee's summer villa in Chinhae and told newspapermen: "Some people think the ROK Republic of Korea Army will not be able to go on fighting if United Nations' ammunition and other military supplies stop. Just wait and see."

"Personally," he added, "I think the new Allied proposal is very similar to what the Communists are proposing and, therefore, I see no reason why the Communists will not accept."

Total Crowd Tuesday May Be 4,000,000; Showers Predicted

LONDON (CP)—Showers with the sun peeping through were predicted as the stage was all set for the Coronation Tuesday.

The Crown Jewels were moved secretly into Westminster Abbey this morning.

The young Queen kept busy with her official rounds as thousands poured into London.

Even standing room was at a premium at choice spots along the processional route 24 hours ahead of time.

Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh gave a luncheon for the Commonwealth prime ministers at Buckingham Palace and shook hands with 80 delegates from her far-flung realm.

Chilling winds failed to dampen any of the carnival enthusiasm of throngs milling about outside the palace and in front of Westminster Abbey.

And they didn't seem disturbed either by the forecasts of showers "perhaps with hail and thunder" and cold weather tomorrow.

Crowds along Regent Street missed, too, one of the climactic pre-Coronation rituals—the transfer of the Crown Jewels to the Abbey.

Only a single car of detectives guarded the historic relics—including St. Edward's Crown and the jewel-studded Imperial State Crown—on the journey from the crown jeweler's to the Abbey. The spirit of festivity swept into Buckingham Palace.

The 27-year-old Queen wore a cream silk dress with a small black dot pattern and a diamond-spray brooch on the left shoulder. Her husband was in morning clothes.

She greeted the guests standing before a dais on which there was a single chair of state of crimson silk damask. The only woman presented to Elizabeth was the Begum Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan, attired in Eastern dress.

A last-minute rush of visitors from all corners of the earth was under way.

Planes stacked up to land at London's two big airports. Special trains and boats disgorged thousands of others from abroad.

Traffic along the teeming six-mile Coronation route virtually is at a standstill. Solid swarms of pedestrians have all but taken over the main thoroughfares. The crowds are good natured and gay.

For most Britons, the biggest holiday in more than a decade of austerity has begun.

The lucky ones—about 250,000 in all—who have seats in specially built, bright-painted stands along the route, will start taking their places early Tuesday.

But perhaps 4,000,000 more will see the Queen on her way to and from her crowning in ancient Westminster Abbey before 7.50 on Tuesday.

30 Million to Watch TV Parade

An estimated 30,000,000 other Britons will watch the spectacle on television.

For some it was a particularly joyful occasion. In her last official action before the Coronation, Elizabeth handed out ranks and honors.

Among those knighted were two of Britain's most popular sports figures—world champion jockey Gordon Richards and Jack Hobbs, veteran cricketer.

The Queen's newest honors list marked Her Majesty's Coronation and also her official birthday June 11. It rewarded Britons in all walks of life for service and seniority.

A sombre note was added, however, in the death Sunday of William Hepburn, 64, the Queen's gardener, while tending 33,000 special blooms he had grown for the Coronation in Hyde Park. He had been awarded the Royal Victoria Order, fifth class, in the honors list.

The Queen may go to Westminster Abbey some time tonight to pray on Coronation Eve just as did her father, King George VI, before he was crowned 16 years ago.

Earlier today she was to hold a morning reception and luncheon party in Buckingham Palace for representatives of the Commonwealth.

Sunday, the Queen worshipped in the gold-paneled chapel in the grounds of Marlborough House, where Queen Grandmother May lived and died.

There—with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the Queen Mother at her side—she knelt in quiet prayer while millions of her loyal subjects prayed at similar Trinity Sunday services throughout Britain.

The Queen! The Queen! The Queen!

As the Queen returned to Buckingham Palace from her prayers, a crowd estimated at 40,000 surged toward the car crying: "The Queen! The Queen!"

The palace sentries, unable to walk their normal beats outside the gates, were ordered inside the grounds, where they marched protected from the throngs by the iron fences.

Those waiting outside got brief glimpses of the Queen's two children, Princess Anne, in a white nightgown, was held up at a top floor window by a nurse just before going to bed. An hour earlier, Prince Charles was seen bobbing up and down at another window, but his nurse quickly pulled him out of sight.

Chants of "we want the Queen!" broke out from the crowds until nearly midnight, but the Queen, resting for the coming ordeal, did not appear.

At midnight, some soldiers and their girl friends danced outside the palace gates, but by 1 a.m., the crowds had dispersed, some to wander else-where.

FINAL BULLETINS

Jets to Fly Over City Tuesday

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCAF reserve squadrons will celebrate Coronation Day by flying over Victoria and Vancouver in Mustangs and Vampire Jets.

Two squadrons will participate—the City of Vancouver Squadron 442, and the City of New Westminster Squadron. The planes will appear over Victoria and Vancouver Island at 10:30 a.m., and will reach New Westminster at 11 a.m.

Pavlukoff Execution Postponed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Execution of Walter Pavlukoff, set for June 23, has been postponed until July 28. Pavlukoff's appeal from his conviction last March for the 1947 murder of bank manager Sydney S. Petrie is slated to open before the Court of Appeal June 17.

Stay of Execution Refused

NEW YORK (UPI)—Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman refused today to set aside the death sentences of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. He also refused a stay of execution pending an appeal from his ruling. Kaufman, who originally sentenced the Rosenbergs to death for transmitting atomic secrets to Russia, said the motion was "transparent and without any merit whatsoever."

Soured President Says Will Sue Kemp

VANCOUVER—The threat of legal action by the Social Credit Party, popped up today in the wake of an Independent candidate's election-day charge that Soured League President John Perdue has a criminal record.

In an interview here today Mr. Perdue said: "The politics of my province have sunk to such a level that the sanctity of my home is threatened to the extent of breaking up my family."

"I have worked honestly and hard to establish a Social Credit government in British Columbia."

"I intend to sue Dr. Kemp, but in the meantime irreparable damage has been done to myself, my family and my party. I will make a full statement on Wednesday night to the people of British Columbia and my own family. I have called a meeting of our board and will offer my resignation should the board feel that this malicious publicity is harmful to our movement."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, obviously angry, told a week-end meeting at Abbotsford that the legal aspects of this matter were "for the attorney-general and the courts."

The premier did not deny the charge, but described it as a "terrible smear" by Dr. William Kemp, independent in Vancouver Point Grey.

Bennett said that, "Whether a thing is right or wrong, they should be brought out long before; they should not be brought out on the eve of the election."

Bennett waved a piece of paper to the crowd, saying, "It was a letter from Dr. Kemp, and read the first two paragraphs in which Kemp allegedly asked to be made chairman of a new medical appeal board in return for his support of Social Credit."

ROKs Propose Defense Pact With America

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee has proposed that President Eisenhower sign a four-point agreement pledging a mutual defense pact and future military and financial help to South Korea if the Seoul government is to drop its opposition to the United Nations truce terms, it was learned today.

Rhee's attitude—and what reply should be made to his proposition—presumably was up for discussion at a special meeting of the National Security Council, Eisenhower called at the White House at noon.

An authoritative informant said the South Korean president submitted his program in a message to Eisenhower. The four points which Rhee insisted Eisenhower must agree upon in advance were reported to be:

1. A pledge to sign a mutual defense pact with Korea guaranteeing the United States will come to Korea's aid in the event the Communists attack again once a truce has been signed.
2. A promise by the United States to undertake continued large-scale military and economic aid to South Korea.
3. Simultaneously withdrawal of all foreign forces, including Communist and United Nations troops, once truce arrangements are completed and prisoners exchanged.
4. Agreement by the United States that it and the United Nations will not try to stop South Korea from uniting the country once a truce has been agreed upon.

Last World Outpost Falls to Britons

LONDON (Reuters)—The British expedition has conquered Mt. Everest, the first time man has reached the top of the world's highest mountain, The Times of London said in a copy-right story Tuesday.

E. P. Hillary, a member of the expedition, and a Sherpa guide named Tensing were named as the successful climbers.

The news was published in a special edition of The Times on early sale among Coronation crowds in London.

Mt. Everest, the 29,002-foot giant, was the last main outpost of the world unknown to man.

This year's British expedition had hoped to climb Everest in time to send the news to London as a Coronation present for the Queen.

The 13 Britons formed the 11th team to try to conquer the mountain in the last 30 years. All the previous ones had failed, and some of the climbers died in the high ice and snow of the Himalaya giant.

The Sherpa guide who reached the top, Tensing, is a 39-year-old native veteran of more Everest attempts than any other man on earth.

Col. John Hunt, a serving officer of the King's Royal Rifle Corps, led the British team.

With 362 porters, 20 Sherpa guides and 10,000 pounds of baggage they left the Nepalese base of Katmandu on March 10. They took 80 days from start to finish.

The successful attempt was reported to have been the British expedition's third assault of the trip.
